

By Andrew Miller

Cokely's Final Bid

Grimsley's Dynasty Comes To Abrupt End

All dynasties must come to an end and Grimsley's dynasty over 4A boys varsity basketball in North Carolina ended at Goodman Gym at the hands of highly regarded Chapel Hill, 48-46.

The Whirlies, trying for their fourth straight bid for the state finals, finished the season with a 20-6 record. Over the past four years the Whirlies have compiled a 92-16 overall record, best in the state.

The fourth quarter was the back breaker for the Whirlies. The Tiger press, although not causing too many turnovers, drained most of the energy out of Cokley. And with 4:46 remaining to play, the Tigers took their first lead, 37-36. The lead from there changed hands four times until the Tigers settled into a three-point lead. The Whirlies, however, were not through as Cokely hit a jump shot to cut the lead to two, 41-46, with only seconds left.

Weaver then inserted reserve point guard Danny Whalen. Whalen drew a charge from Chapel Hill's Bo Weaver. He calmly went to the free throw line and iced both free throws to tie the game at 46-46. Chapel Hill got the ball in bounds to Anthony Davis who found David Glover open for what appeared to be the game-winning basket, but Cokely blocked his shot. Glover wrestled the ball away from Cokely and made the winning basket with one second left on the clock.

Weaver stated, "I'm confident we could have won if Cokely had been 100 percent and Austin could have played."

Cokely led the Whirlies with 12 and pulled down seven rebounds. Mike Henson dished out five assists. For the game, the Whirlies shot 61 percent from the floor. As one player put it: "It all came down to who had the most luck."

David Polk scores two on a backdoor play against Chapel Hill. The Whirlies made it all the way to the quarter-finals, but lost to Chapel Hill 48-46. (Rabold Photo)

High Life

Grimsley Senior High School
801 Westover Terrace
Greensboro, NC 27408

Volume LV, Number 8

Thursday, March 19, 1981

High Life co-editors Karen Brown and Tommy Grant (center) listen to discussion between News-Record's executive editor Walter Rugaber (right foreground) and city high school journalists during February 26 meeting. (Beth Sykes Photo)

Journalists Discuss Youth Relations

A select group of area senior high and junior high school students joined two representatives of The Greensboro Daily New and Record at a luncheon meeting held at the Weaver Education Center Thursday, February 26.

Walter Rugaber, executive editor of both city newspapers, and Juanita Weekly, special projects director for the newspapers, asked the students for ideas and their point of view on how to cover news about and for the youth of Greensboro. The purpose of this "brainstorming" session was to help Weekly and Rugaber firm up their plans for a new section in the newspaper called "People and Places."

Among the guests at the meeting were the school newspaper editors and student body presidents along with Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Newbold, School Board Member Mrs. Libby Baines, Mrs. Betsy Harrington, the organizer of Friends of Public Educations, Mr. Mike Renn, the director of Citizenship in the City School System, and Mrs. Barbara Ross, Director of Publications and Public Relations.

Most of the ideas discussed seemed to imply a desire for a section similar to "For Your Information" pages now appearing in both of the newspapers. Some students suggested such items as a "Dear Abby or Ann" column, a political cartoon, a father-son point of view column in which they could discuss almost any topic, and articles written by a student reporter.

Clubs Prepare For Spring Activities

Many Grimsley High School clubs are preparing for another busy and eventful month.

The annual GYC Carnival will be held in the parking lot of the Carolina Circle Mall April 22-26. Any club interested in obtaining a booth at the GYC "Carolina Carnival" should sign up at the GYC office or call Grimsley's District Director, Stacy Block.

Grimsley's Key Club will be participating in the GYC Carnival in April and hopes to be able to distribute the Key Club Directories through the homes as soon as possible.

The Civinettes are involved in preparations for a party to be held at an area nursing home for the elderly. The club members will be participating in the GGO by distributing programs promoting the event.

The Exchangettes' club is selling Chandler's Barbecue for $3.50 per pound. Anyone interested in purchasing a pound or more of barbecue is urged to contact a club member.

The Jaycettes will be working on Pro-Am Day at the GGO, and will be participating in the GYC Carnival. Plans are being made to distribute pamphlets dealing with the Runaway Hotline, a community service in Greensboro that reaches out to young people.

Campus Happenings In Brief

Drama Honors

Three members of the Speech and Debate Division Grimsley's Playmasters finished among the top 12 in a tournament held in Gatlinburg, Tennessee on Saturday, February 28. Seventy-three schools from seven states competed.

According to advisor Richard Zaruba, team members Lisa Goldman, Larry Kirwan, Ramona Rice, Paul Smith, and Chuck Tedder displayed an excellent performance. Kirwan, Smith, and Tedder were finalists, while Smith acquired a third place finish.

Art Awards

Sunita Chandra and Teri Woods, Grimsley art students, were recently awarded Certificates of Merit in the 1981 Scholastic Art Awards competition for outstanding work.

Both Chandra's college and Woods' ink drawing were on exhibit in the Elliot University Center of the UNC-G campus through March 1, 1981.

Talent Show

(GYC News Release) The 1981 Talent Awards Show featuring area talent is being presented Saturday, March 21, 1981, at 7:30 p.m. in the Carolina Theater in Greensboro.

Tickets are available at the Carolina Theater box office, the GYC Office at 501 Yanceyville Street, and from show participants and sponsors. Advance sale tickets are $2.00. Tickets at the door are $3.00.