

Low Life

Grimsley High School

801 Westover Terrace
Greensboro, NC 27408

Volume 74 No. 6

April 1, 1998

Out of the Blue

Due to technical problems at the Greensboro Coliseum, this year's graduation date has been changed. The ceremony is rescheduled for Monday, July 6, at 6:00 a.m. at The Palamino on High Point Road. All seniors will be required to ride the mechanical bull before receiving their diploma. Good luck class of '98!

TV funny man Dave Coulier, better known as Uncle Joey from "Full House," will be replacing Richard Zaruba as Grimsley's drama teacher. Zaruba will be the new host for Nickelodeon's "Family Double Dare." When asked about his new position, Coulier said "Cut. It. Out!"

Mr. Cahall, a former football star at the University of Virginia, announced his intention to enter the NFL draft. Although many teams have expressed interest in Mr. Cahall, he really wants to be the host for the hit TV show "Soul Train."

Starting tomorrow, each freshman will be assigned a senior to whom he/she/it will be a slave for the rest of the school year. Seniors may see their counselor to request a particular slave, otherwise it's pot-luck. Psychological abuse is preferred over physical. Thanks.

School officials will repave the student parking lot beginning May 1. The process is expected to take two weeks. There will be limited parking available for $10 at Kiser Middle School. Any student complaining of headache or nausea should shut up and leave.

The World Wrestling Federation recently announced that its April 20 pay-per-view event, WWF: In Your House from the Greensboro Coliseum, will be moved to Grimsley's grove, providing that students clean up all cans, wrappers, and championship belts after lunch. Tickets for the new WWF: In Your Groove will be sold today.

Bathrooms receive much needed facelift

By Sausage Link
Staff Wiper

It is a well known fact that the Grimsley bathrooms have become disgustingly repulsive over the past seventy years. Since they were originally designed and built in 1929, unidentified strains of bacteria have continued to grow and multiply. Administrators at Grimsley, in coordination with the Guilford County Health Department, have agreed to a $1.4 million project to renovate the bathrooms and restore humane conditions.

The Guilford County Health Department committed $1 million toward the renovation after its last inspection. At that time, the bathrooms received a sanitation grade of Q, fourteen points below that of McDonalds. Grimsley will fund the additional $400,000.

The P.T.S.A. is considering several options for raising the money. One option is to sell the marching band's new uniforms. If the band was able to survive bathroom life at Grimsley over the past years, they certainly will find the mold on the old uniforms to be a refreshing change.

A second possibility is to sell the bacteria to the United States Department of Defense for use as an antidote in the event of germ warfare. Allowing M.G.M. to purchase the bacteria for the making of their new low-budget movie, "The Mold that Ate Miami," is another option under consideration.

Grimsley has been threatened with several law suits during the past year from parents of students who have contracted skin disorders from bathroom case, saying, "The truth is out there."

Earlier this week a prototype for the new bathrooms was unveiled. The floors will be tiled with blue and white Venetian marble in a checkerboard pattern, and the sinks will be made from ivory from the petrified tusks of Malaysian war mammoths. Above each sink will be mirrors hand crafted in an Elizabethan design and bordered with gold leaf. The spacious rooms will even have enough capacity for mud-wrestling pits and showers. Porters will be stationed in the lavatories to give students warm hand towels and other amenities.

Each bathroom will have designer stalls equipped with personal telephones and individual televisions and VCRs. Other entertainments in the bathrooms will include Nintendo 64, Sony Play Station, Sega Saturn, and Atari. Bathroom attendants will be provided for the lavatories in the Main Building. The attendant's skills will range from shining shoes to tutoring for the S.A.T.

Grimsley students were pleased with the new bathroom concept, as were parents and teachers. The only negative comments that have been reported relate to limitations on available cologne selections. Foreign exchange student, Toi Lett, was ecstatic when learning about the new lavatory. Lett said, "Finally this administration has realized the right way to go."

The new restrooms on campus will feature fragrances along with other amenities.

Pretty Boy photo

Featured Inside

Ms. Whitley to be 6th Spice Girl

page 1

Mr. Feeney discovers kryptonite

page ?

SHC expands to veterinary clinic

page oops