

Changes at Grimsley
After a fight escalated in the Grove very early on Tuesday afternoon, Grimsley principal calls in National Guard.
Page 6

Volume ∞ No. 1

Grimsley High School
801 Westover Terrace
Greensboro, NC 27408

April 32, 2009

the highLIFE

“
A guy at work bought a car out of the paper. Ten years later,
Bam! Herpes.

P. 77 ”

Fashion

With the poor state of the economy, students must become creative with new “cheaper” styles.

Page 2/3

April Fool's

On this national day of trickery, one must be mindful of school rules and regulations regarding pranks.

Page 7*8+52

Not a real section

Students gather at the school flag pole in celebration of the Tibetan New Year.

Page 666

I'm really bored

The format of the paper calls for a fourth and final section here; however, I have nothing further to say.

Page #

Index

Fashion	2
April Fool's	3-9
Insider	10-11
Unreal	12-18
Boredom	19-20

Pressures of high school prove too difficult for top students

BY CHERI PITTS
Fruit Farmer

To the shock of senior leaders and the administrative team, potential Valedictorian Tracie Quebec filed her high school dropout forms last Tuesday.

“Education is the remnant of a fascist society,” Quebec said in response to the shock.

Quebec, who applied to top universities like Duke University, Davidson College, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and North Carolina State, plans to forego college education.

Confused seniors and teachers wonder what could possibly cause Quebec to drop out so close to graduation.

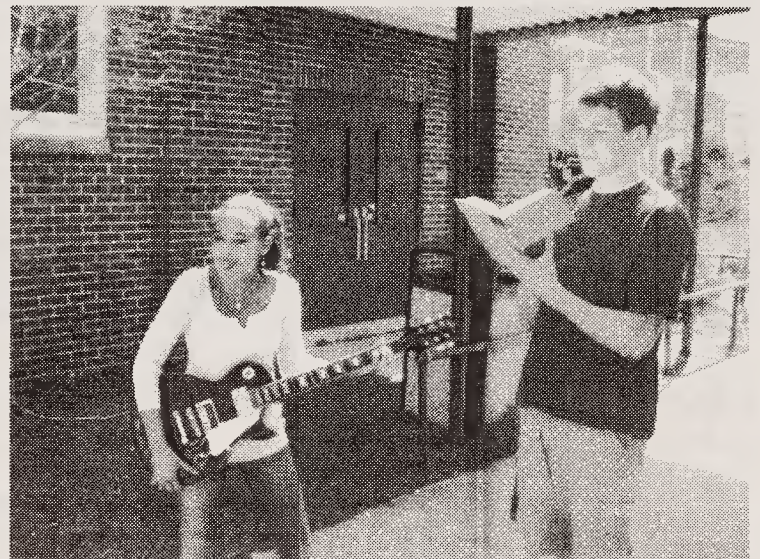

“I heard heavy metal band ‘Guns N’ Roses’ wants her to join the band to replace lead singer Axl Rose,” said senior Anita Bath.

Although Quebec refused to comment on these rumors, unidentified sources spotted her purchasing a new bright purple electric guitar and getting a tattoo of a rose surrounded by the words “Sweet Child O’ Mine.”

Weekly Brower, who throughout the years has served as a close second to Tracie’s first in class status, admits he will miss his friend but feels excited at the prospect of giving the Valedictorian speech at graduation.

“Perhaps Tracie can come perform at graduation,” Brower said at the official press conference yesterday. “I don’t think Guns N’ Roses is doing much these days.”

Tracie Quebec neglects her usual study habits to rock out on her guitar as Weekly Brower prepares to assume his new position at number one. Rockstar Inc. Photo

Captain Physics gone, not forgotten

BY YURINARY
Urologist

Friday, March 13 was just another day of testing new designs for Captain Physics’ hovercraft. The experiment took an unexpected turn for the captain, also known as Troy Corsner, when the hovercraft began functioning at levels that far exceeded anyone’s expectations.

Coupled with a more powerful engine, the hovercraft’s newer, sleeker design will revolutionize the world of travel. This new model, which carries the name “Captain Physics” as part of its patent, was able to achieve a top speed of 235 mph with a maximum hover height of 25 ft. Onlookers claimed they were able to see Captain Physics take off and proceed to fly around the Grimsley campus several times in one minute.

Following the astounding performance, this scientific mastermind was able to land his hovercraft skillfully on top of Main Building, at which point he had to wait 45 minutes for rescue crews to reach him.

After being rescued from the building’s rooftop, the Captain was only available for a brief question and answer before he sped off.

“Question: Mr. Corsner, what do you plan to do now after your unprecedented level of success?”

“I don’t know, but you sure won’t see me around here anymore!” said the flyboy.

Grimsley High School is presently searching for a new physics teacher.

Shown here is the first successful test flight of the hovercraft Captain Physics designed. After his spectacular performance, Captain Physics bolted for the door to begin collecting the large fortune that will undoubtedly be waiting for him. We couldn’t be more proud of our backstabbing teacher. Not a real photo

Former President George W. Shrub’s new foreign policy

BY TY TANNIK
Boat Repairman

Private Investigator Pinky Panther recently confirmed sighting former President George W. Shrub and First Lady Petunia residing in a modest and cozy town on the eastern border of Iraq. There, with the help of Tom Cruise, they plan to conduct missionary work to convert Muslims to the Church of Scientology.

Legally changing their names to Jorgen Khalid Al-Babushkan and Loramyu Hashemi Al-Babushkan, the couple hopes to blend into the town inconspicuously.

“After putting our country $8.2 trillion into debt, completely failing to manage the first large-scale emergency since 9/11, making assumptions I couldn’t support, ridiculing all who doubted the wisdom of our current Iraq adventure, and using the war on terrorism for electoral advantage and so on, matters turned ugly; people grew vicious and continually persecuted me,” said Shrub in a “Tehran Times” article. “I really feel like I can get out there and help people. There are a lot of good people living here they just need to be shown the right way to live.”

Whether Shrub will be successful with this new form of foreign policy, only time will tell. If nothing else, he will be their problem for a while.