

ould take advantage of the opportunities this uni-n offer. ”

unc
pi alpha phi

maintaining good relationships with other Greek organizations is essential.

On the last day of class of fall semester, a joint mixer with Alpha Phi Alpha and Tau Epsilon Phi (TEP) was held at the TEP house.
The celebration, named “Apocalypse”, drew over 2000 students.

What was special about the event was that it wasn't a crowd of one specific racial group. One could see Asian, African American, and Caucasian students mixing together and enjoying a good time. The three fraternities, one Asian, one African American, and one Jewish collaborated on a huge success.

During the exam week of fall semester, Pi Alpha Phi invited the sororities Theta Nu Xi and aKDPhi for a spaghetti dinner. The brothers enjoyed the company of the ladies, along with cooking and serving some delicious food.

Recently Pi Alpha Phi brothers attended a dinner sponsored by the GAC. It offered brothers the opportunity to meet members of the fraternities and sororities of GAC.

Obviously having a good time and associating with fellow Greeks is an integral aspect of Greek life.
Social chair Sang Shin said, “There is a diverse population on campus and we should take advantage of the opportunities this university can offer.”

The fraternity's active members include a diverse and formidable plate of talents and interests.
Many are involved in leadership positions in other organizations around campus and in the community. Almost all of the brothers are involved in Asian organizations across campus.

Pi Alpha Phi's longstanding excellence has withstood the years, standing tall through turmoil and societal issues concerning Asians and Greeks.

Current president of the fraternity, Hans Choe, said he believes that the arrival of Pi Alpha Phi at Carolina ushers a new life that also retains its values.

“We have come a long way and accomplished tasks we could not possibly imagine...brotherhood will remain as our immutable bond in the goals to strengthen our pillars in this university,” Choe said.

~EW

Alphas Members pose at the Pi Alpha Phi Charter Installs.

the first step in dealing with the issues. ”