

Psi Phi Chapter awards College scholarships

Two scholarships totaling $1,750 have been awarded by Psi Phi Chapter, the local chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. The 1989 recipients of the scholarships are Asim Razzak and Charles Parrott. Both young men will enter college as freshmen this fall.

The scholarship winners were guests of the local fraternity at the chapter's August meeting. Each young man had the opportunity to make an impromptu presentation in the presence of the chapter's membership. The brotherhood posed questions aimed at helping each applicant project his strengths.

Both Razzak and Parrott spoke of their high school careers, and each indicated his educational and career plans for the future. Each young man presented a profile consistent with the principles of the fraternity: manhood, scholarship, perseverance, and uplift.

Razzak, who is a graduate of Glenn High School, will attend North Carolina A and T State University this fall where he will study electrical engineering. While at Glenn, he was active in school athletics, language clubs and the martial arts. According to one reference source, however, Asim is motivated by the challenges he finds in the classroom.

According to his English teacher, "Asim has a genuine desire for learning." She further described him as an individual whose natural ability was coupled with a seriousness of purpose.

Parrott, who graduated from Carver High School this spring will attend Lane College in Jackson, Tennessee this fall. He will transfer to Tennessee State University at the conclusion of his core curriculum at Lane. Parrott aspires to become a computer engineer.

The academic achievements noted for Parrott included his membership in the National Honor Society, junior marshal, and honor graduate status. During his senior year all but one of his classes carried the course weight of "honors: or "academically demanding."

The scholarship applications submitted by Razzak and Parrott were endorsed by James Franklin and Victor Johnson respectively. Franklin and Johnson are members of Psi Phi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. Joe Lowery is the chairman of the chapter's scholarship committee. Robert McCollum is chapter basileus.

Joseph O. Lowery presents $1,000 check to Charles Parrott, (above) and a $750 check to Asim Razzak, (below) recipients of the 1989 Scholarships of Psi Phi Chapter, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. Lowery is chairman of the chapter's Scholarship Committee.
