

DUDLEY STARTS CLASS FOR MILLIONAIRES

Joe L. Dudley, Sr.

By John Raye

So you want to be a millionaire? A class that teaches students how to become bona fide millionaires is now underway in Kernersville, taught exclusively by one of the nation's best-known self-made millionaires, Joe L. Dudley, Sr., the founder of Dudley Products.

Largely, Dudley teaches the class, officially entitled Professional Salesmanship and Retailing, with himself and a staff of selected professionals who share a time-tested, step-by-step approach to becoming financially self-sufficient.

Created under the guidance of the Dudley Leadership Institute, the class provides two days of hands-on, intensive training and instructions in finance, money management, financial planning, marketing, strategic planning, entrepreneurship, character and personality development, salesmanship,

Continued on Page 6

MILES HARRY LAUNCHES COMPUTER SERVICE

Equipped with over twenty years in the information technology field and a passion for computer literacy, Miles Harry has formed a computer service company. "Getting people to utilize the many advantages a computer brings to a business, organizations and to one's personal life" is my objective says Harry. Services in hardware and software selections, web site development, training and technical support will be among the services offered.

Miles Harry

Harry. In other words, they spend too much money!

"I help a lot of people set up their systems," says Harry. They tend to get frustrated when they've just purchased a computer and they run into problems. For instance the printer isn't working, the mouse isn't clicking, the scanner doesn't scan, and their e-mail isn't responding. That's when they need someone to come in and provide support and technical assistance.

Churches have an opportunity to really modernize their record keeping systems and keep in touch with their membership, Harry states. There are

Continued on Page 27

HISTORY MAKER: JAMES TATUM RETIRES

By Sheila Stover

"My drive in life has always been to strive and press my way to become self-sufficient. I've always set my goals to be the best and most successful in all of my endeavors. Another thing I have always enjoyed is — extending a helping hand", says Deputy James Tatum who retired after 30.6 years from the Forsyth County Sheriff's Office on November 30, 2000. A very industrious person, Tatum says he will continue to serve others and extend a helping hand, as he will remain active as a member in many of the organizations in which he is involved.

Tatum is a member of Wentz United Memorial Church of Christ where he is a Deacon and works as an Advisor to the Boys Scouts. Now that Tatum has retired, he plans to give more time working as a Deacon in his church. He also looks forward to extending his activities in his role as one of the advisors with the Boy Scout Troop in which his son, James Tatum III is a member. He is very proud of his Dad. Tatum says he will continue to serve as an Advisor. Some of his activities with this group are teaching classes on camping, sanitation, map reading, how to build camp fires, put up tents, and emergency techniques while at a camp site. He belongs to every house in the

Continued on Page 17

Deputy James Tatum

EXCELSIOR STREET SCAPE PLANS BLOSSOM

By Paula
McCoy

The Local Initiatives
Support
Corporation (LISC) and the City of Winston-Salem has partnered with the SG

Dr. C. R. Leslie

Atkins
Community Development
Corporation (CDC) to begin streetscape and landscape design services for the beautification of Excelsior Street. Excelsior Street, a historically black neighborhood surrounding the WSSU campus, was the first project of the SG Atkins CDC (SGACDC).

Continued on Page 12

INSIDE...

Dr. King's Holiday
A Spiritual
Celebration 7

North Winston Neighborhood
Receives ECHO
Grant 9

Will Clinton Free
Kemba Smith . . . 32

Churches Should Set Economic Example 33

Jazz Artist
Triumphs
Over Tragedy 36

King: A Powerful
Book of Photography . . . 41