

"After years on a 'job', I found a career that changed our lives!"

Cynthia, Wal-Mart Vision Center Optician & Son

"I spent 15 years of my life working in the vision field as an assistant, for another company. But, within two years of working for Wal-Mart, I furthered my education, got my optician's license, and began my career as a specialist, earning more money with good benefits. But even more importantly, I've earned my own respect. The sense of accomplishment I feel lets me know I can achieve whatever I can dream. That's what having a great career can do for you."
