Tea Given By Sorority Pledges

Kappa Kappa Chi's Hostess

The pledges of Kappa Kappa Chi Sorority charmingly entertained with a delightful tea given at the Kappa house on Tuesday afternoon, November 24, 1931, in honor of the faculty, and pledges of the other sororities. The guest were received from four-thirty to five-thirty. Eleanor Woodcock, president of the pledges welcomed them at the door. The house was artistically decorated with autumn leaves and beautiful chrysanthemums. A color scheme of orange and white was carried out in the refreshments which consisted of pineapple sandwiches, cheese and pepper, canapes, potato chips, little angel food cakes, and punch generously served by Elizabeth Cassens.

Party Given for Faculty

Mrs. Lyon and Miss Guy Entertain At the Hut

The ladies of the faculty were entertained at an informal party given by Mrs. Lyon and Miss Guy. The big front room of the Hut was aglow in the soft lamp-light and attractively decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums. The refreshments consisting of potato chips, nut sandwiches, pickles, waffles, nut cups and coffee were served by Annie Belle Smith and Mary McChesney.

An original game, lasting for a long while was played. A list of name associations were given from which the players could derive their own names. The ingenuity of the contest may be attributed to the hostesses who succeeded in making some rather difficult relations to be solved. However, they do not deserve as much credit as one would expect at first, because their former experience has not been lacking along similar lines. It seems though, that the young victims of the class room are not so skillful as the older ones in solving such problems. Dean McLean and Miss Edwards tied for the first prize, both identifying all but two names. A mesh bag full of gold money was awarded the lucky winner, Dean McLean. Candy cigarettes were served as favors. After a delightful hour and a half the guests departed.

PERSONALS

Thanksgiving has come and gone but the memory of that day lingers on. Many girls were able to go home and others visited friends, while the ones who stayed at the college enjoyed a marvelous turkey dinner.

Those who went home were: Mary Brown, Luelle Meares, Virginia and Katherine Shellum, Katherine Brown, Martha Grant, Minna Le Grande, Louise Cleveland, Marie Galloway, Hughla Lee McCollum, Margaret Alexander, Janie Berryhill, Julia Bynam, Olivia Riddle, Janie Boyd Tamberlin, Laura Jannette Quattlebaum, Evelyn McMillian, Peggy Guy, Gladys Jones, Janie Getter, Kathleen Gaston, Frances Nicholson, Theresa Funderburg, Mafalda and Jimmy Wilson, Jo and Dot Foard, Sarah Kirkland, Julia Reid, Mary Ruth McQueen, Mada Brown, Catherine and Margaret Jones, Mary Beth Pervis, Jane Smith, Catherine Wilson, Helen Deans, Mary Louise Ervin, Harriet Dubose, Helen Wall, Edna Rowell, Marion Duncan, Lib Thompson, Hannah Richardson, Margaret and Jeanette Malloy, Elizabeth Harrison, Mary and Claudia McChesney, Helen Fishburne, Margaret and Caroline Lillard, Cornelia Able, Mary China Stephenson, Jessie Smith, Carolyn Arnette, Katie Belle McLean, June Tweed, Dorothy Cathran, Catherine Dickerson, Rosalie Wyman, Laura Stallings, Frances Ripplemeyer, Alice McClaren, Anna Wade Bagwell, Mary Dye, Virginia Parson, Margaret Floyd, Mary and Ruth Kale, Lib Mason, Grace Walker, Louise Drennen, Abigail Gregory, Mamie Hunter, and Buena Winecoff. Whew! That's some list isn't it? The poor little girls that had to stay here found plenty to do in the meantimes! Things as sleeping, eating, listening to football games, and incidentally going to football games.

Helen Fay Orr went to Indian Trail, N. C., and Miriam Story visited Conway, S. C., to enjoy their turkey.

Gay McNeil was over in Statesville and Emma Grey Witherpoon visited the Wilsons in Lancaster. Helen Vincent was one glad person to reach Laurens after so long a time.

Helen Darrone spent her last week-end for some while with her Aunt in Charlotte.

Margaret Nickel ate turkey over at Nell's in Albemarle, while Ann Clegg went down to Hartsville.

Mary Lib Britt, Latta Lana, and Alice Rankin traveled down to Sumter to have dinner with Beaty.

Rupert Perry, Olivia Curlee, Loi Monroe, Alice Cothran, Mary Bowen, Janie May and Anna stayed in town.

Angie Toole went to Chester, while Dot Dunn had a merry time in Clinton.

Martha Carnes likes Greenville enough to enjoy some more turkey and cranberries there anytime. Martha Lyson would say the same about Bowling Green.

Margaret McFarland had a big time in Belmont but Jo Cornwall enjoyed mince pie even more, she says, in Newton.

Frances Harry, Fredna Shockley and Evelyn Koonce ate everything within sight when Louisa Drenan took them home with her.

Annie Belle Smith and Florence Moffett visited the Lillards in Elkin.

Julia Combs has moved out to the campus and is already enjoying "the life"—she'll be initiated soon—college is like that!

Catherine Buck visited her sister at the Chi Omega House at Chapel Hill.

Lou Martin Miller and Edith Ramseur visited Grace Walker in Shelby.

Bunny Reid's father visited her Thanksgiving day.

Liz Beckman visited Luelle Mears in McBee and had a "eating" good time.

Clare Hazel had a big time, the long looked forward to one, in Thomasville.

Pee Wee and Mary Reid had a big time talking over "turkey" at Nan's home in Woodward. They should have brought Nan back with them, 'cause we miss her.

Miss Guy, Mrs. Wilson and Thelma Stone took a trip to the mountains near Asheville.

Kid Party Given By Pledges

Alpha Delta Pi's Entertain

Charming indeed was the "kid party," given by the pledges of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority in honor of the faculty and the pledges of the other sororities on Friday afternoon, November the twentieth.

The kiddies were met at the door by little Misses Josephine Cornwall and Rachel Boyer and were presented with a lolly-pop-doll. They were then ushered into the playroom which was exquisitely decorated with autumn leaves and various colored balloons. Here many games, such as "Ring Around the Rosy," and "London Bridge," were enjoyed by the tots.

During the course of the games ice cream lolly-pops were served together with pop-corn, peanuts and, best of all, animal crackers and punch.

After the party the children wended their way home, each proudly bearing her lolly-pop-doll with its blue and white dress.

Mothers Honored At Attractive Tea

Alpha Gamma Deltas

The girls of Alpha Gamma Delta were hostess to an attractive tea given at the Alpha Gamma house, Tuesday afternoon, in honor of their mothers. A number of the day student's mothers called during the afternoon.

The patronesses present were Mrs. Cameron Morrison, Mrs. Parks Kirkpatrick, and Mrs. F. M. Redd.

Russian tea, cakes, mints and nuts, were served to the guest.

Chi Omegas Beautify Their House

An interesting improvement on the campus is the addition of shrubbery around the Chi Omega house. The work was superintendent by a landscape gardner. Quite a number of new plants were put out in front and around the sides of the house.

In the near future the Chi Omegas have planned to have a permanent walk put down and the yard resown with grass. But since weather is considerably colder, the work will probably be delayed until spring.
