

Work at Practice House Completed

The work at the practice house is finished. The girls have moved back into the dormitories.

It's great to have them back.

They may keep their rooms so neat that we will be ashamed of ours; but then they have had practice.

Seniors Took Cuts

"Is she coming back? Do you think she is going to get married? I'll bet she is. Well it looks like a lot of seniors are not returning."

It was lonely around here without the seniors for the first few days.

Everybody wondered if they would all return.

The seniors took their cuts, you know.

CONVENTION MEETS

tended every day. Delegates were assigned to their chosen classes and for an extensive period with experienced leaders. Dr. Darby Fulton in one of the Round Table Groups talked on "The Personality and Work of Kogawa of Japan." Other interesting topics for discussion were "How Can We Share Our Best With Other Races?" "Christianity's Relation of Mission Problems to a Living Faith," "The Relation of the Religion of Jesus to One's Philosophy of Life and One's Life Choices," "What Are the Essentials of a Christian Society?" "Missions and World Peace," "Attitudes of Missionaries Toward National and Political Movements," and "The Gospel Which Commands Us."

A Program on Disarmament was presented by student speakers. In relation to this, a motion was made that a delegation be sent to President Hoover, authorized to request the attendance of a student to the Geneva Conference. This motion was passed and twenty students were sent to Washington.

An interesting feature of the program was the presentation of a pageant entitled "Release." The well-trained cast, supplemented by a chorus group, presented the graphic picture of mankind in the struggle with industrialism, poverty, disease, ignorance, international conflict, and philosophical confusion, Jesus Christ—a present power in the lives of men—it presented as the way of freedom.

The various committees of the Convention not only provided for an inspiring program but also for an entertaining trip to Niagara Falls and a social affair New Year's Eve at the Hotel Statler. Organ recitals were presented by Mr. Arillian Gomph. The exhibition of Mission Literature and Posters was helpful and interesting.

The reports of Florence Moffett and Frances Johanson, Sunday night, have given an idea of the success of the Convention. Two more reports, which will follow for the next two vesper services are anticipated.

Campus Cleaned During Vacation

While we were all away enjoying our vacation's idle hours in various places, the Mallard Creek men, through Dr. Frazer, were helping to improve the looks of our campus. Various steps, walks, and ditches were practically renewed. The weather man has been rather ruinous lately but we can still appreciate the results of their work.

Sophomores Plan Class Entertainment

The Sophomore Class will "reign" at 8:15, Wednesday night, January 20. Very popular magician acts and orchestra music will be presented to entertain the students and to benefit the class. Further announcement concerning this performance will be made as soon as definite decisions have been reached.

Annual Features Voted On

Kept Secret By Staff

In December girls were chosen from the various classes to represent them in the feature section of the annual. These girls were chosen to fit certain characteristics read out by Frances Johanson. Some girls were nominated by the staff and others from the floor. The outcome of these elections is being kept secret by the staff.

Annual Cuts To Be Paid For This Week

Fannie Martin has given the students warning that all of the annual cuts are to be paid for this week. This is imperative because the work on the annual must begin to be rounded up. The business manager has much more to do than just this; so she needs co-operation. Fannie is ready, in her room in North, to take your money for these cuts, so please take it to her as soon as possible. Any of her suite-mates or her roommate would do this, also, no doubt.

MY HEART

My heart, that bad, deceitful organ,
Is like a truant elf.
It leaps, it runs away and leaves me
And I cannot help myself.
And I am always quite embarrassed
When it's trotted home to me
By men who have too many hearts—
And can't use mine you see.
I scold that wretched organ.
I tell it not to roam
The imp! It loves adventure
It will not stay at home.

Budget Fees Due By End of Semester

One of the announcements made in the Student's Meeting, Thursday by Margaret Lillard, was that all budget fees would be due by the end of this first semester. These are those fees that have been extended from last fall to those students who wished to pay by installments, or simply to pay the entire sum later.

Santa Leaves Sparklers

There are a lot of third fingers on left hands that sparkle.

The holidays worked wonders. Anytime is the time to fall in love!

We wouldn't say that Kresses did good business but somebody did.

NEW VOLUME PRESENTED

be a treat to anyone and Queens-Chicora girls need just such treats!

The author, Mrs. Crane, has been a missionary to Korea for approximately twenty years, during which time she has done much admirable work. The Chi Omegas on the campus are very proud to claim Mrs. Crane as a "sister in fraternity." Mrs. Crane wrote the book as a tribute to Mr. Watts, who has done so much to make possible a great deal of the mission work in Korea.

Reports Made On Convention

The Vesper Services, Sunday night, December 11, were conducted by members of the student Volunteer Band. Rebecca McClary lead the program, Margaret Kelly offered a prayer and Florence Moffett and Frances Johanson gave reports on the Buffalo Convention. Both gave interesting talks on a few ideas discussed by several of the speakers. The topic, "Life," was explained along the lines of the relation of a Christian life toward Christ. Florence Moffett spoke first on "What Shall I Do With My Life?" and "How and Where Can I Make My Life Most Effective?" The brought out the responsibility of the Christian to serve God and offer his life in a fitting way to Christ's service. Frances Johanson drew her talk from another lecture bringing her thoughts on the two subjects, "How Far Can I Go and Still Be a Christian?" She defined Life as "a universal possession . . . a gift from God . . . Coming from God and returning to God . . . that which is indefinable." She explained how we should love Christ spiritually, physically and mentally. Other points of the Convention will be discussed the next two Sunday nights.

EXCHANGE

Omega Chapter of Sigma Delta Pi, national fraternity, was installed at Davidson, Saturday evening, December 12, the official ceremonies being held at 6:30 in the Phi Delta fraternity house.

Mary Baldwin College, which is in Staunton, Virginia, was granted membership to the association of colleges and secondary schools of the Southern states. The admission was granted during its meeting in Birmingham, Alabama.

Magherita Solvi, Spanish Coloratura soprano, and Enlonio Cortis, Spanish tenor, appeared in a joint recital, Friday, December 11, at 8:30 o'clock in Aycock auditorium of N. C. C. W. and was one of the most interesting numbers of the series.

January 11, 1932, Lynchburgh College presented Walter Mills, Baritone, as its second number in the artist course.

Walter Mills is well known as an N.B.C. artist and has achieved quite a success in the musical world.

At a debate held in Atlanta, December 11, Brenau, supporting the negative of the question, Resolve: That a vocational education is a better preparation for life than a cultural education was defeated by a 2-1 decision in favor of Georgia Tech.

"Football is, more than any other game, an expression of college spirit, and should therefore be synonymous with sportsmanship shown by coaches and players. During the past ten years much has been done to make football the popular sport it is," says W. S. Jackson, athletic director of Emory and Henry College.

Blondes Beware

Blondes beware! The brunettes are buzzing about it. Remember the picture Platinum Blonde? It started something. It focused the spot light on blonde beauties. The glorious golden locks of Jean Harlowe, Lilyan Tashman (etc.) crowned their owners with much glory.

Now comes the "Red Headed Lady" to be released by one of the famous film companies. Several of the best known titian-haired actresses are candidates for the berth of leading lady. The stellar role may fall to the hands or shall we say to the hair of one of our most popular red-headed stars. And according to reports, every little highlight, every copper beam dancing over the lady's head will be captured in technicolor. Only the head will appear in life-color.

Boss—"Ye're late this morning, Rastus!"

Rastus—"Well, sah, when I looked in the glass this mornin' I couldn't see myself, so I thought I had gone to work. It was only sometime after dat I discovered dat de glass had dropt out of de frame!"
