

Home Economics Exhibition Shown

Beginning Saturday and lasting through Tuesday of Commencement week, an exhibition of much "work" was displayed by the Home Economics Department. Every girl in each class contributed a garment of some type; and the sewing room seemed transformed. This exhibit is a representation of much work that has been quietly but steadily going on all year, and it is now at the culmination of this year that the Home Economics students wish to commend Miss Collins for her ever-patient attitude in our accomplishments.

DR. WELLS PREACHES BACCALAUREATE SERMON

The Rev. J. M. Wells, D.D., delivered in the college auditorium on Sunday night, May 29, a most inspiring Baccalaureate sermon. Dr. Wells came to us from Sumter, S. C., and we deem it an honor to have had one so well-known with us.

PATRONIZE THE EDELWEISS

Students Receive Edelweiss

The Edelweiss was presented to the students yesterday morning. The appearance of the annual has been anticipated by many students, who were not disappointed. The originality and superb workmanship of the book is outstanding. The motif, which is "A Midsummer Night's Dream," is well carried out by attractive drawings and the feature section, composed of students who represent qualities in Shakespeare's characters. Those who have scanned the advertising section have noticed the marked success of the business manager. Both Frances Johanson, editor, and Fanny Martin, business manager, are to be congratulated.

Sceptre Appears

Senior Edition

The last Sceptre of the year has been issued by the new staff, with Edith Storm as the editor. This issue is dedicated to the outgoing senior class, and has among its pages the "Last Will and Testament," "The Prophecy," "The Class Gift," and other writings of interest concerning the class of '32.

The Sceptre of this month gives promise to a well edited, well written magazine for next year. From all appearances this new staff, with Edith Storm at its head, will do all honor to the high standard set by its predecessors.

We Think We Have Helped

The number of married males has increased in the United States in the past 10 years by 4,447,843 according to the Census Bureau. The number of married females has increased by 4,851,823. No, we can't explain the discrepancy in the figures, but the point we want to make is this: Women have less fear of household work than they had ten years ago. Why not, in these days of Electric Ranges, Refrigerators, Grills, Irons and Dishwashers . . . innumerable other appliances that take the curse of drudgery off the housewife.
