Prodigies Attend Northwestern

Evanston, Ill.—(IP)—Last year President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern University conceived the plan of having a group of so-called prodigies come to his university this year to live and study together. He would study the results.

Last week seven who applied as such and were accepted arrived to begin the experiment with President Scott.

The seven were William Duncan Stetch, 15, of New York; Jane Alice Hall, 15, of Clovis, N. M.;

Mary Margaret Moore, 14, of Danville, Ill.; James Allen Norton, 15, of Flint, Mich.; George Edward Alcott, 15, of Weiner, Ark.; John Rader Platt, 14, of Tampa, Fla.; and A. M. Reid, Jr., 15, of Birmingham, Ala.

The seven will have the advice of Harold Finley, who entered the university three years ago at the age of 13 and is now beginning his senior year. The fathers and mothers of all seven are college graduates.

The world is blessed most by men who do things, and not by those who merely talk about them.—James Oliver.
