

FRESHMEN WIN THE SILVER TROPHY

Delegates Attend Press Convention

Editors and Business Managers of N. C. C. P. A. Go To Wake Forest

The fall meeting of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association was held at Wake Forest college October 27-29. Students representing Queens-Chicora were Mary Young, Frances Kornegay, Edith Storm, Ruth Walters, Margaret Jones, and June Tweed. The N. C. C. P. A. is an organization composed of editors and business managers representing forty publications of twenty-two universities and colleges of North Carolina. Annual fall and spring meetings convene each year at various colleges for the purpose of developing and improving college publications. President of the organization is A. V. Washburn, Jr., of Wake Forest; first vice-president, John Minter of Duke; second vice-president, Virginia Allen of W. C. U. N. C.;

(Continued on page four, col. 1)

Sceptre Makes First Appearance

Shows Much Literary Talent

The first number of the fifth volume of the Sceptre was presented to the students last week. The extraordinary contents and attractive size and cover mark the edition as one of the most outstanding of issues.

Articles written by students and faculty members who traveled last summer are among the most interesting selections. Julianne Mongin's "Roman France" shows a knowledge and appreciation of native France. Thelma Stone was realistic and witty in her description of first travels in France, bicycle riding in the Alps, and courses under French professors. We see foggy London, Westminster Abbey, the National Gallery and the Old Curiosity Shop in "A Day in London," by Anne Smith. "Sacred Mountain of the Shantung," by Ione Smith, who has lived in China, is a description of the beautiful sanctuaries sacred to the Buddhists, Taoists, and Confucianists. "Aloha," by Rebekah Hassell is charming in its vivid flash of Hawaiian divers in the "emerald depths."

The short selections, poetry and book reviews are of excellent quality. Among the students who have shown literary talent in their contributions are: Inez Dellinger,

(Continued on page five, col. 1)

CHAPEL PLANS REORGANIZED

Announcements Will Be Made On Wednesday and Saturdays

Due to the fact that certain student organizations have not had time for their various meetings, a new chapel plan has been organized. On every day except Monday, all students will gather in the chapel at 10:30. On Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays our usual chapel service will be conducted by Dr. Frazer; on Wednesdays and Saturdays students' meetings will be held. The tentative plan is that Wednesdays are set for the student body, leaving Saturdays for any class business that may arise.

The student body has also elected Janet Robinson to fill the newly-formed and necessary office of announcer. Meetings on the monthly schedule are never to be announced, but any impromptu meetings may be called through the announcer, provided notice of such be handed to her before chapel starts.

These plans have arisen out of suggestions made by Alpha Kappa Gamma. As soon as every one becomes adjusted to such changes, it is expected that meetings of all kinds will produce better results in attendance and promptness.

Charlotte Has Teachers' Meeting

Of South Piedmont Region

Many students of Queens-Chicora attended the tenth annual convention of the South Piedmont district organization which is composed of superintendents, principals and teachers in schools of fourteen counties, who met in Charlotte Friday and Saturday, October 28-29.

(Continued on page six, col. 1)

Alpha Kappa Gamma Bids New Members

Four Leading Seniors Receive High Honors At Tapping Ceremony

Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary leadership fraternity, issued bids to four new girls by a tapping service October 26, during the regular chapel period in the auditorium. The girls are: Edith Storm, Virginia Shellum, Virginia Anderson, and Ruth Sweeney.

After a brief message by Dr. Frazer the president of the fraternity, Jane Renfrow, stated the aims of the fraternity and the method of invitation. The four girls were then conducted to the stage, where they were received by the other members who were seated on the stage, dressed in ceremonial white.

Edith Storm is from Charlotte. She is editor of the "Sceptre" for this year. She is also president of the International Relations Club and the Poetry Club. She is very talented and has distinguished herself on the campus by her literary attainments.

Virginia Shellum is president of Phi Beta Chi, honorary science fraternity. She is also vice-president of the Student Christian Association and a member of the

(Continued on page five, col. 2)

Practice House Now Open

Seniors To Learn Duties of Housekeeping

The Practice House is now occupied by students who will try out their newest methods in housekeeping. Before long fluffy curtains will appear at the windows and spicy orders will issue from the kitchen.

Each year the seniors of the

(Continued on page five, col. 2)

Stunt Night Is Big Success

Class Galleries Give Enthusiastic Support

The freshman classes has the honor of winning the silver trophy last night, when Queens-Chicora celebrated its first stunt night. The affair exceeded all expectations and produced great enthusiasm among the four classes, who competed for the winning of the cup by the presentations of songs, yells, and stunts. Each class supported its colors with loyal ardor. Fifteen minutes were allowed for each program. The freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors filed separately into the auditorium, singing original songs. Virginia Anderson, president of the Athletic Association, offered the loving cup to the future winners. Five minutes of

(Continued on page five, col. 2)

Colleges Plan S. V. Institute

Darby Fulton To Speak

The students of several campuses are looking forward to Monday and Tuesday, November 7 and 8, for this is the time that has been set for the annual fall institute sponsored by the Student Volunteer group. The purpose of this institute is to give, particularly to the students interested in missions, an opportunity to hear men who have had actual vital experience on the foreign mission field, and to prepare them to arouse more interest in missions on their campuses and in their churches.

This year we are privileged in having two of the finest missionaries that have ever witnessed for Christ, Dr. Darby Fulton, formerly of Japan, now executive secretary of the Southern Presbyterian Foreign Mission board; and Rev. Kerr Taylor, missionary to China, a man wide-awake to student interests. Miss Elizabeth Manget, 1932 graduate of Duke, who is now traveling secretary for the South Atlantic region of Student Volunteers, will be present to give an idea of what other mission-interested students are doing.

As college people, a great interest will be taken in the very pertinent theme: "Youth's Crusade To The Sleeping Church."

Davidson, Wingate and Lenoir-Rhyne will join with Queens-Chicora in this institute which begins at 2 o'clock Monday

(Continued on page five, col. 1)

QUEENS-CHICORA ALUMNAE

Here it is—a Queens Blues dedicated to you. We hope you will enjoy reading it again and recall, with fond memory, your life here. We hope you will visit us soon and often. Life goes on in its charming way. Wouldn't you like to keep up with the weekly news and happenings of college and campus life? Just fill out the blank form and give yourself this pleasure.

QUEENS BLUES, Queens-Chicora College, Charlotte, N. C.

Please enter my subscription to the Queens Blues for the current school year at the special rate of $1.50, check enclosed.

Name.....
Street.....
City.....