

Delegates Go To Flora McDonald

Caroline Lillard Presides; Three
Representatives from Queens

The S. C. A. held its annual conference at Flora McDonald in Red Springs, November 5 and 6. Four colleges, Mitchell, Peace, Flora McDonald and Queens-Chicora were represented. All of these colleges have membership in the state S. C. A. The delegates from Queens-Chicora were Florence Moffett, Claudia McChesney, and Caroline Lillard.

The delegates were given a tea at the Practice House on Saturday afternoon. The student body of Flora McDonald welcomed the representatives at a reception Saturday night.

The meetings were led by Caroline Lillard, who was elected president of the association at the Davidson conference. The main purpose of the conference was accomplished in setting up new standards for the year. Plans were discussed for the improvement of each organization of the S. C. A. Inspiring leader of the Sunday afternoon discussions and Sunday night vespers was Miss Orene McIlwaine who spoke on the "Four Dimensions of Life."

Davidson Musical Club Appears Here Tonight

Sponsored by Juniors

The juniors seem anxious to start the year off right as is evidenced by their choice of Davidson College Glee Club and orchestra, the first outside entertainment to be sponsored this year.

From all reports, Davidson's outfit seems to be bigger and better than ever this year. Mr. Craft, present director of the Good Fellows chorus here, has been an able instructor to Davidson in this line. A concert trip has been planned for December 1, which will include Wadesboro, Laurinburg, Red Springs, Lumberton and Aberdeen. N. C. C. W. will have equal shares with us in being the first ones to hear their early-season program.

The entertainment starts at 8:30 sharp, so everyone be there with your fifty cents. A reception will be held in Burwell Hall immediately after the program, and all are invited.

The sponsoring class — the whole school, in fact, extends welcome to Davidson tonight.

Symphony Delights Charlotte Audience

Three Musicians From Queens-Chicora

The Charlotte Symphony orchestra, directed by William de Roxlo, presented its first program of the season, Thursday, November 10, at the Little Theatre to an audience of approximately 250 people. The program included Mr. de Roxlo's "Spanish Serenade," Dvorak's "Symphony No. 5," and Bach's "Aria in C."

Among the thirty-eight members of the orchestra are two Queens-Chicora students: Ruth Martin, violinist; and Marie Wilkinson, bass violinist. The blonde lady whom T. D. Kemp mentioned in his write-up in The Charlotte Observer, was none other than Mrs. Townend, instructor in English. Mr. Kemp mentioned "the blonde lady who played cello" as one of the outstanding players on the program.

Charlotte Has Relief Drive

United Welfare Federation Composed of Seven Charity Organizations

An appeal for funds has been made to the girls of Queens-Chicora to help carry on the work of the United Welfare Association of Charlotte. The United Welfare Association is composed of seven charity agencies: The Charlotte Day Nursery, Family Service Association, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Travelers' Aid, Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. The drive is being made in order to help those who are unable to buy food, clothes and fuel.

Until this year each agency has made a separate relief drive instead of seven, and the money received will be distributed among the seven agencies in the United Welfare Federation. Since there will be only one relief drive everyone is urged to give generously to the United Welfare Federation.

Day Students Defeat Boarders 36-34

Winners Pull Ahead in Last Quarter

The first game of the Day Students vs. Boarders, two out of three series was played Wednesday afternoon. Close competition kept all guessing who was going to win, but finally the Day Students snipped the lead from the Boarders in the last three minutes to win by two points. Even though this was the first game of the year it was well played. The guards played exceptionally well, but even at that the forwards got around them to make high scores. Beck McClary was high-point scorer, shooting 22 points, with Mary Hubbard, Helen Latimer, Grace Hubbard, and Virginia Hubbard each making 16, 14, 10 and 8 points respectively. The spectators added immensely to the spirit of the afternoon by their peppy yells.

Whistle! The game began. The Day Students got the ball and with quick passes and accurate shooting made the first two points. But the Boarders weren't going to be left out so they evened up the score. In rapid succession both sides kept increasing their score, but at the end of the first quarter the Boarders were in the lead 12-10.

Student Volunteers Hear Darby Fulton

Queens-Chicora Students Attend
Meeting

The Institute, held in Charlotte on November 7 and 8, was a meeting which helped many; forty-two students from neighboring colleges came to show their interest in the great Student Volunteer movement. Realizing that during our country's depression there has been a consequent depression in every phase of mission support, these Student Volunteers wish the church to know that they are still anxious to fight for this worthwhile cause.

Kerr Taylor and Darby Fulton, two favorites of students around here, brought something real in the line of inspiration from the field. Mr. Taylor also spoke in chapel Tuesday morning for the benefit of all who couldn't attend the meetings.

This institute plan will probably be carried out every fall; it is thought to be of great value to all who are interested enough to take it seriously.
