

Volunteers Hold Convention In Ind. During Holidays

World Famous Christian Leaders Assemble at Indianapolis; Queens Represented.

The Twelfth Quadrennial Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement of America and Canada is to be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, December 28, 1935, through January 1, 1936. The Convention will bring together some two thousand students from Canadian and American colleges, universities, and professional schools. It is being planned to attract and challenge a qualitatively selected group of young men and women.

Christian leaders from all over the world have been summoned to Indianapolis to lead this student conference—such renowned men as The Archbishop of York, John A. Mackay, Toyohiko Kawawa, John R. Mott, and Robert P. Wilder, who had a part in the beginning years of the Student Volunteer Movement.

One of the main features of the program is the play, a drama of missionary life in China, that has been written especially for the Convention. Operation At One was written by Maude Sarvis who was a missionary for fifteen years in Nanking and will be presented by a trained cast under the supervision of Miss Nancy Longnecker.

In projecting this Twelfth Quadrennial Convention the Movement is endeavoring to interpret to the best thinking students of America this Christian world mission in the face of the disruptive forces at work in the world today. The objectives of the Convention, its contact, fellowship, entertainment, and exchange of ideas, all are credited as being highly worth while by those who attend. Those expecting to go from Queens are Ione Smith, Mary Wilson, Martha Stewart.

Miss Wharton comes to Queens-Chicora college after 15 years of experience as director of piano of Belhaven conservatory, Jackson, Miss. This is the first time Miss Wharton has appeared in concert in Charlotte, although she has played for practically every musical organization in Charlotte. Miss Wharton is already taking an active part in the musical life of Charlotte.

HEADS SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION

WILLIAM H. FRAZER

Dr. Frazer Honored With Presidency of Southern Association Women's Colleges

Queens-Chicora's President Gets High Office at Annual Meeting of Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools

At the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools held in Louisville, Ky., Dr. W. H. Frazer was elected president of the Association of Women's Colleges.

The other officers elected were, Dr. L. Wilson Jarman, of Mary Baldwin, Staunton, Va. Vice-President, and Dr. J. J. Peace, of Brenau College, Secretary-Treasurer. The executive committee which Dr. Frazer heads consists of the present officers and the past presidents of the organization.

The Association of Women's Colleges held a discussion on "Toward Understanding the Younger Generation" under the following subdivisions, "How Youth Looks at Religion" and "How Youth Looks at Social and Political Problems."

Dr. Harold W. Tribble of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary was the speaker at the annual dinner of the Association of Women's Colleges.

At the meeting of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, many outstanding reports were given and a new constitution was adopted.

Dr. Frazer has done outstanding work in the Southern Association since getting Queens-Chicora into the Association, and it is a fitting honor that he be president of an organization with which he is so well acquainted.

Model League of Nations Held At Winthrop Dec. 6-7

Twenty-one Colleges of North and South Carolina, Virginia, and Tennessee Represented

The seventh annual Model League of Nations assembly was held December 6-7 at Winthrop College. Twenty-one colleges of North and South Carolina, Virginia, and Tennessee, were represented with about 100 delegates in all.

On Friday, the Strawberry Leaf sponsored impromptu and extemporaneous speeches, oratorical contests and debates.

On Saturday afternoon, the Model League was held. All the delegates had been assigned speeches on different countries and the floor was divided into separate countries by the use of place-cards. The chairman presided and recognized the delegates from the floor.

First, the delegate from Ethiopia gave her present situation in international affairs and pleaded for humanity from the nations of the world. Then the representative from Italy gave his speech. During both speeches, yells of "bravo," "boo," and "down with Mussolini" were frequent. Pages carried notes from delegate to delegate frequently.

Finally, a representative from Canada took the floor and delivered an oration. To make it more realistic he used a monocle and had great difficulty keeping it in place.

Gamma Gamma of Alpha Gamma Delta Wins Awards

Two Scholarship Awards Go To Queens' Chapter of National Sorority

The Gamma Gamma Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta, international social fraternity, won two scholarship awards for the school year 1934-35. The first award was that presented by the national fraternity to the chapter for the highest scholastic average among the forty-six in the United States and Canada.

This award is a silver rose bowl engraved with the name of the chapter and the numerals of the school year. The rose bowl was first presented in 1917 by the founders and charter members until that time and has a very important place among the sorority traditions.

The second award was that presented by the province to the chapter having the highest scholastic average in the province. The chapter on this campus is in the Gamma province which includes the states, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, and Kentucky.

Survey of Nation's Career Women In- cludes Mrs. Booker

Member of Queens - Chicora's Faculty One of Charlotte's Six Nationally Important Career Women.

Charlotte has six of the nation's most important career women in her citizenry and one of these women is a faculty member of Queens-Chicora College—Mrs. Warren Booker, educator. The other Charlotte women included in this survey of "outstanding women" by Durward Howes are: Julia M. Alexander, attorney; Sylvia Allen, neuropsychiatrist; Mary O. Graham, educator; Laura H. Reilly, organization executive; and Marian M. Sims, writer.

Durand Howes, past president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, secured more than 15,000 recommended names from prominent leaders in civic life, art, education, industry and the professions, officials of women's organizations, alumnae secretaries of colleges and universities and national sororities. From this highly selective group over 6,000 nationally representative biographies were finally chosen on merit and "because their records are ones of achievement, deserving of national recognition."

Mrs. Booker received her M. A. from Columbia University in New York City. She has done outstanding work as head of the Home Economics Department at Queens as well as in the City of Charlotte.

A Christmas Party For Home Children Planned at Queens

Sponsored Annually By Home Economics Department; Every Queens' Girl Participates.

On Tuesday afternoon, December 17, at 4:00 o'clock the Home Economics Department of Queens-Chicora College will sponsor a Christmas party for the fifty odd children of the Alexander Presbyterian Home and fifty children from the Family Service Department of Charlotte. The party will be held in Burwell Hall; Santa Claus will be present; and there will be a Christmas tree, and presents for all the children.

Each Queens' girl has been given the name and age of one of the children, and she will get a present for the child whose name she holds.

The party is under the direction of the Home Economics Department of which Mrs. Booker is the head. Thorburn Lillard and Mary Wilson are making the arrangements for the party.

The custom of giving a Christmas party for these children was established a number of years ago, and all the children look forward to the party with a great deal of enthusiasm. At first, the Queens' girls would attempt to do the entertaining at the party, but they soon found that the children welcomed the opportunity to exhibit their originality and to display their talents, and that they are quite capable of furnishing their own entertainment.

The refreshments, a most important part of any children's party will be prepared by the girls, and there will be plenty of cookies, apple "Mickey Mouses," animal crackers, and gingerbread men.
