Roberta Kilgore, Elsie Setzer, Jean Orr, Margaret Anderson Chosen for Membership By National Leadership Fraternity.

Alpha Kappa Gamma held its spring Tapping Service in chapel on Wednesday, April 29th. The program opened with a Bible reading by Bettie Wicker. The requirements for membership in the National Leadership Fraternity were read by Margaret True and then Ione Smith, president of the chapter, discussed the purpose of the organization. The four girls, one senior and three juniors, who were tapped are Jean Orr, Margaret Anderson, Roberta Kilgore, and Elsie Setzer.

The Olympian Chapter of Alpha Kappa Gamma was installed on Queens Campus in 1928. Its purpose is to "seek out and solve the problems that arise on our campus" and to recognize the students who are leaders in a scholastic, social, campus activities, or athletic field.

Juniors Honor Seniors at Prom

Enjoyable Banquet and Prom Climax Senior-Week of April 20-24 — Elizabeth Maynard In Charge.

An event of great interest on the campus was the annual Junior-Senior Banquet, on Friday evening, April 24. The party climaxed a very successful Senior Week, during which the Seniors were entertained by several groups of people, including the sophomore and freshman classes.

Honor guests for the evening were, of course, the seniors. However, there were several special guests invited. Among these were: Dr. Frazer; Dr. Kratz; Miss Dee Henderson, sponsor of the junior class; Miss Marie Turnipseed, sponsor of the senior class; Mary Currie, president of the sophomore class; Josephine Rankin, president of the freshman class; and Miss Ruth Grover.

The program included toasts; dancing by Carolyn Hinkle, and some of her pupils; music by Nick Nicholson and his Carolinians, including his soloist, Jimmy Nelson; the introduction of the president of the rising senior class; and proms on the side campus, which was decorated with Japanese lanterns. During the prom punch was served by Bettie Cabell, Rosalind Corbett, and Margaret Morton.

Morrison Hall dining-room was decorated in blue and silver, with palm trees carrying out a "Moon Over Miami" idea. The tables were arranged in the shape of a large S. The waitresses were fifteen sophomores dressed in slacks and gaily-colored sweaters. Elizabeth Maynard, who acted as toastmistress, was in charge of all arrangements.

The rising senior class has voted to publish an Annual next year instead of the Coronet, a quarterly magazine which has been published for the last two years.

Executive Council Busy With Plans

Constructive Plans Being Laid For Next Year—Point System Altered

The Executive Council for 1936-37 really feels keenly its opportunities for service to the Student Body. Queens-Chicora is most fortunate in having one of the, if not the most, democratic student government organization in the Southern Association for Women's Colleges. It is hoped by Executive Council that the Student Body will realize this and will feel free to bring before the council or the student body anything that will benefit the college.

The Executive Council has had only two regular meetings but during that time numerous constructive and progressive plans have been laid for the coming year. Most of these plans, the council feels, cannot be revealed until more definite work has been begun. But there are a few changes which may seem small but will aid in organized student government. Heretofore the President of the Athletic Association has been Secretary and Treasurer of the Executive Council. Now, in order to divide the work of the council members more equally, the new council has decided to separate these two offices. Therefore during 1936-37 the President of the Athletic Association, Adeline Kilgore, will act as Treasurer; the President of the S. C. A., Elsie Setzer, will hold the office of Secretary of the Council; and the President of the Day Students, Lois Thompson, will be in charge of chapel cuts.

The old and new councils felt the need of a point system which would enable more girls to hold offices and would keep students from being overworked; so the following point system has been adopted:

McGeachy Speaks To Student Body

Columnist Talks on "Making Your Place In The Community"

"Making Your Place in the Community" was the subject on which Mrs. McGeachy of Charlotte, better known as Caroline Chatfield, spoke to the student body at the chapel on Thursday, April 23. It is the woman with the college education, said Mrs. McGeachy, who has the best opportunity to make a place for herself.

After discussing the enviable places in the community that a woman might have, Mrs. McGeachy brought out ways of attaining these places in society, in poster art, music intellectual and moral endeavors. First of all, she said, too much emphasis cannot be put on a pleasing personal appearance which overrules timidity. Good manners, which are the consistent consideration of other persons' feelings, also help. The main thing is to decide what contribution you want to make to the community in which you go, and strive toward it.

Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago has been awarded the gold medal of the Holland Society of New York for "distinguished service in the field of education."

Brown University has eliminated mid-year examinations and semester grades in full-year courses.
