

AMONG OUR GRADUATES

Time must march on for we hear so much about it. We have heard little about our graduates from this paper but our own faculty graduate, Grover, who knows all about the other graduates hasn't been interviewed as yet. So we take the opportunity of stealing some of Miss Grover's thunder from her "Queens Notes" and here goes.

Virginia Cagle has gone to New York to do graduate work in piano . . . Harriet Culp is Mrs. Myers Dwelle . . . Miriam Cannon is now Mrs. R. G. Hayes . . . May D. Marion will, on the fifth of November, fulfill that senior prophecy by becoming Mrs. Charlie Lucas . . . and Florence Holmes will be among the charming former Queens girls brides of next month . . . Empress Josephine, Joe Long to you, is pursuing further knowledge at Lenoir Rhyne this year. Efficient Betty Manning is assistant deaning with Dr. Kratz at the University of Pennsylvania.

May Leiby Smith is working at the Charlotte Observer . . . Janet Hilton is in the real estate business in Rock Hill—who would have thought that May Court Janet would enter the business world . . . Eleanor Woodcock is a school marm at High Point . . . Mary McMaster is playing mother to third grade children in Winnsboro . . . from the hills of Tennessee we hear of Margaret Trobough warbling the day away . . . Mary Phillips is out West . . . Jean Stough still comes back to her Alma Mater twice a week for voice . . . Margaret True and Ione Smith are working for Southern Bell.

Thus ends our Alumnae News this time.

Miss Robinson Entertains Pupils

Smith, Stough, Alexander, Durant, Stewart Give Program

On Tuesday, October 20, Miss Grace Robinson, vocal instructor at Queens-Chicora College, presented a group of students in the first studio recital of a series. These recitals will be given about once every month and will be composed of voice students. Only voice students attend as the recitals are merely for their benefit.

The first recital consisted of Frances Smith, singing "For You Alone" by Geehl, Jean Stough singing "The Kashmiri Song" by Woodforde-Finden, Elizabeth Gammon singing "The Indian Love Call" by Friml, Miriam Dodd Little singing "Elsie's Dream" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner, Alice Bowditch singing "Were My Songs With Wings Provided" by Hahn, Eleanor Alexander singing "Solvejg's Song" from "Peer Gynt Suite" by Greig, Sara Durant singing "Sylvia" by Oley Speaks and Martha Stewart singing "Blue Are Her Eyes" by Watts.

The accompanists at the piano were Harriet Truesdale, Catherine Walton, and Josephine Hackney.

Delightful refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, mints, and nuts were served.

The College Review

(By Associated Collegiate Press)
The conduct course now being offered at the University of West Virginia is not intended to teach self-control. It has been designed to show students the "hows" of studying, making a budget, and spending leisure time.

Charles S. Hendershot, a law student at Ohio State University, expects to live in a sixteen-foot trailer with his wife and dog for the next three years.

Indiana University students drink the cleanest milk in that state, says Doctor Clarence E. May, of the chemistry department, who tests milk from each of the 31 Bloomington dairies every month.

Claude A. Watson, candidate for the vice-presidency of the Prohibition ticket and a former student at Alma College, will speak in the college chapel there later this month.

The senior disclosed further that Mexico is an ideal spot for tourists, a land of beauty and culture.

chairman. Mrs. Godard, the advisor of the group, expressed her approval of the idea of publishing, at the end of the year, a magazine containing the best work of the group. Other plans for the year were also discussed and then Mrs. Godard talked on "Creative Writing."

Martha Grace Hood, the leader of the Debating Group, says that they are looking forward with much pleasure to a conference at Winthrop on the fifth, sixth, and seventh of December. The Pi Kappa Delta question will be the subject under debate. This is the first challenge the group has received, and as they are, as yet, unprepared to accept any challenges, they spent the rest of the meeting discussing plans for the coming year.

Thanksgiving Holidays

According to Dr. J. M. Godard, Dean of Instruction, the Thanksgiving holidays will be the same as last year. The holidays will begin at the close of classes on Wednesday, November 25, and will end on Monday, November 29, at 1:00 P. M.

Students are reminded that any cuts immediately preceding or following the holidays except for providential reasons shall be counted as double voluntary cuts.

New System

A new sign-out system has been installed for week-ends and dinners Saturday night and Sunday. Special permissions are kept on cards which are filed in the office of the dean of women. These permissions should be granted ahead of time, before 3:00 o'clock on Fridays and before 5:00 o'clock on Saturdays. The cards on file give the location of the person while off campus so if it is necessary to get in touch with her, there will be no trouble in locating her. The hour of return must be checked within three hours after a student returns to the campus or a minor will be given.

It is believed that this method, which is now used at Duke University, will be more satisfactory than the system previously used here.
