

Chessy Chats

Barbara Summitt seems to rate every column of Chessy, but something unusual always seems to happen to her. The other day she received a package from Ivey's containing several articles of costume jewelry, and no card enclosed. (A secret admirer, Barbara? Maybe it was that man you saw in your room).

Ah, cruel fate . . . that should bestow all those Fashion Show prize cakes on the Day Students.

Our personal nomination for the most quizzical pair of eyebrows . . . "May Queen" Dougherty.

Frances Stough doesn't enjoy Nature Study as well as her sister Jean did last year.

Latest news flash! ! ! Helen Stroupe playing cupid . . . and to a certain blonde and . . . well you guess.

Davidson seemed to have been well represented over here last night . . . Our brother college sent over some rather handsome specimens, too.

Who was that darling male "Jebbie" Clark had the other night? We need more like him to brighten the corners in the parlor.

From all reports, we hear that Margaret Flowe gets the best samples of fan mail in the school.

Hope there won't be any elopements soon, but from what we can hear through many sources, Mary Katherine has a bad case and it sounds serious.

South is wondering if Eddie or Johnny are tops in the affections of Marguerite Alexander.

Cutest couple: Selwyn and her Cliff.

We wonder what the great attraction in Greenville is for Martha Stewart, that she goes off every weekend.

Junior Freshman Party Considered Great Success

The Junior-Freshman Party was given in Morrison Hall on Friday, November 13, at 8:30 o'clock. The plan and entertainment of the party was carried out in the "unlucky day" effect.

The entertainment was very unusual and interesting. A floor show was given by Davidson with Queens-Chicora assisting. Walter Dixon of Davidson, officiated as master of ceremonies. Prizes were presented throughout the evening.

Lillian Smith, president of the Junior class, and Betsy Springer chairman of the Freshman class, with Mrs. Agnew, Miss Henderson, and Miss Grover were responsible for the party.

The committee in charge of the decorations consisted of Lib Calder, Helen Williams, Betty Hunter, Camille Hunter, Betsy Tingley, Mary Currie, Ruth Morrison, Margaret Johnston, Martha Rainey, Alice Wright Murphy, Lib Harms, Jessie Rose Clarke, and Anne Fuller. Joe Hackney, Jane Wiley, Zoe Strawn, and Helen Williford were in charge of dates. Freddie Ward, Lucille Hill, Martha Johnston, Ora Lee Dougherty, Dorothy Muse, Alice Longenecker served on the food committee. Margaret Buffom, Margaret Flowe, Grace Clarke, and Ashley Dulin, were in charge of the entertainment.

Phi Mu Chapter Entertains with Steak Supper

The actives of Phi Mu Sorority were hostesses at a delightful steak supper, Thursday evening, November 5, at the home of Louise Jones. The affair was given in honor of Mrs. Agnew; the new initiates, Alene Ward and Louise Jones; and the pledges, Lucille Harmon, Betty Gardner, Gladys Ingram, Analane Cheers, Margaret Flowe, Betsy Springer, Elizabeth Harms and Dot Alexander.

Alpha Delta Pi Honor Members Of City Club

Beta Iota chapter of Alpha Delta Pi entertained their Alumnae Thursday, November 5, with an informal buffet supper. The house was artistically decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. President Isabel Turner greeted the guests at the door. The alumnae present were: Mrs. Aubrey Elliot, Mrs. Guy Newman, Mrs. J. A. Cansler, Mrs. Odel Long, Virginia Carey, and Catherine Cowhig.

Queens Students Attend Meet

Delegates of the Student Christian Association of Queens-Chicora College attended the fall conference of the State Student Christian Association at Flora-Macdonald College in Red Springs, November 7 and 8. Dr. Doriss Howe, professor of biology at Queens-Chicora College, is the advisor for the South Carolina Association. She attended the convention along with the delegates, Miss (Continued on page 4, col. 4)

Dean Addresses Student Body At Chapel

At the regular chapel hour Thursday, November 5, Dr. Godard addressed the student body in a very interesting talk on student's attitudes toward tests and examinations. Dr. Godard's definition of a test is "A demonstration of what one learns given under forced conditions." He gave two different methods of studying for a test. The first method, (Continued on page 4, col. 3)
