

Juliet To Romeo

Dear Romeo:
Despite the last several days of rainy weather, many evidences of spring have been seen on Queens-Chicora campus. The grass is getting greener and the jonquils and hyacinths are beginning to bloom. Everyone is "coming out" in their spring clothes, including Eleanor Alexander, Mary Currie, Caroline Reynolds in their "ice cream" suits and Sara Durant, Lucy Williams, Jane Davis, and Nancy Sauer just looking fresh and springy.

Just before initiation the old members of the sororities gave the pledges one last work-out—a complete house cleaning. Passing along sorority row one could see Alice Barrow diligently raking leaves in the Kappa Delta yard and Judith Killian and Jean Ferguson artistically washing the Chi Omega windows. Of course I went no farther down the row because next was the "Y" store, where one just has to stop. This could easily be titled "The Most Popular Spot on Campus." The most faithful helpers of the store are Helen Jenkins and Callie McElroy.

The best radio program presented yet was the one on Wednesday afternoon. Dean Godard made a tour through the practice rooms of the Music Building and gave the outside world a taste of what goes on in the backstage of a musician's life. Heard on this program were Frances Riddle, Jean Stough, and Eleanor Alexander, tuning up their vocal chords; Dot Carson and Mrs. Mosely, at the piano; Vera Boulware and Marie Roseman, our two talented violinists; and Josephine Hackney playing the newly made-over organ.
Don't tell anybody, but it's rumored that Peggie Williams has gotten some very grey hairs over this "Freshman Issue."

in which Sarah Thompson happens to be. She always adds that touch and always asks questions that the rest are dying to ask but haven't got the nerve.

June Escott is still getting her daily letter from Bill; ditto Maujer from that Palmgren boy. Ermine had a birthday, a scout eagle reward and initiation in one week. Some week.

Wednesday morning in chapel we had a lovely surprise. A popular song program. Katherine Raeford played the piano and the whole student body sang. We really did have fun. Those dignified ?? juniors just hung their feet over the balcony railing and made a perfect candid camera picture but no one had a kodak.

PRECIOUS EYESIGHT?

Nature intended our eyes for outdoor work—where the light is plentiful and the seeing tasks are relatively simple. But instead most of our time is spent indoors doing close work under woefully poor light.

Listen, Girls—and Pin it on Your Mind

One of the pleasantest places in this busy city is The Tavern of Hotel Charlotte. Girls at Queens ought to know about it by now, of course; but we'd like to remind you, just for instance.

Any time's a good time to come; one of the best, and it's much favored, is after the theatre, any evening.

And whenever you're paying your own check (as, it seems, girls have to do now and then) you'll like the economical way all the dishes are priced. You'll like the wide variety of dishes, too, and their excellence.
