

QUEENS BLUES

Vol. 12, No. 11

QUEENS-CHICORA COLLEGE, CHARLOTTE, N. C.

May 6, 1938

High School Seniors Are Guests Here

Hospitality Day Is Observed In Connection With May Day Affair

Today, in connection with the May Day festivities, is Hospitality Day on the Queens-Chicora College campus, an annual affair at the college.

High school students from all sections of North and South Carolina have been invited for the day to be guests of the college. Activities will begin at twelve o'clock in the auditorium with Mrs. Virginia Miller Agnew, dean of women, presiding.

Mrs. Agnew will introduce Dr. William H. Frazer, president of the college, who will welcome visitors. Dr. James M. Godard, dean of instruction, and Mrs. Frank Brandon Smith, field secretary, will speak briefly to the high school seniors, after which Helen Cumnock, president of the student body, will talk to them on extra curricular activities of the college, and Lillian Smith, president of the senior class, will outline Senior Week plans for them.

A one-act play will be presented by the dramatics department under the direction of Miss Ethel King. Several selections will be sung by the Choral Club of the college under the direction of Miss Grace Robinson, after which organ, piano, and violin selections will be heard. Concluding the program will be the singing of the Alma Mater by the student body.

Luncheon will be served to the guests following the auditorium program in front of the Morrison Hall dining room. Members of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary leadership fraternity for women, will conduct a tour over the campus and otherwise entertain the visitors until time for May Day.

Following May Day festivities, the visitors will be invited to attend the open house celebrations in each of the six national sorority houses on the campus, Chi Omega, Kappa Delta, Phi Mu, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Alpha Delta Theta.

Leadership Group Elects

Officers for the coming year of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary leadership fraternity for women, were elected last Saturday. Eleanor Alexander succeeds Nancy McIver as president.

Other officers are Helen Hatcher, vice-president; Mildred Lowrance, secretary; Sally McDowell, treasurer; Sue Mauldin, editor; and Helen Cumnock, historian.

Retiring officers other than the president are Mary Currie, vice-president; Lillian Smith, secretary; Louise Crane, treasurer; Elizabeth Calder, editor; and Elizabeth Calder, historian.

Members of the zoology class went on an expedition to Beaufort, N. C. two weeks ago. They were accompanied by Dr. Howe, teacher of the class.

The girls went especially to visit the laboratories of Duke University and W. C. U. N. C. which are located there. They found many various marine forms of which they studied the structure, physiology, habitat and economic importance. They brought back some of their specimens and put them on exhibit in the laboratory.

May Court. First Row: Betty Fayssoux, Frances Stough, Martha Wise Alexander, Brooksie Folger. Second Row: Marjorie Poole, Margaret Lloyd, Helen Jenkins, Jane Wiley, Grace Clark, Nancy Thompson. Third Row: Pedie Byrke, Dell Sutherland, Evelyn McCracken, Betsy Mountcastle, Martha Lib Alexander, Sybil Trexler, Billie Frazier, Nancy Hovis, Elizabeth Gammon.

Association Meeting Here

Annual Spring Convention Of Collegiate Press Group Now In Session

The annual spring convention of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association is now in session in Charlotte with headquarters at the Hotel Charlotte. Queens-Chicora and Davidson Colleges are hostess and host.

The program began yesterday with registration at the Hotel from 2 until 5 o'clock, at which time each delegate was presented with a theatre pass for the evening. Delegates met at the Hotel before going to the theatre in order to "get acquainted."

This morning a business session is being held, after which lunch will be served at Queens. This afternoon discussion groups will meet under various editors for any problems which may confront an editor or business manager of the college newspaper, magazine, or annual. Tonight at 7 P. M. the delegates will be entertained with a banquet at the Hotel Charlotte.

Saturday morning the election of officers will be held for the coming year at the regular business session. D. Hiden Ramsey, editor of The Asheville Citizen-Times, will speak at this time.

Other speakers include Jake Wade, sports editor of The Charlotte Observer, who will lead the college newspaper editor's discussion; Cameron Shipp, of The Charlotte News, who will have charge of the open forum for magazine editors; Harrie Keck of the Observing Printing House;

The delegates have been invited to the Carolina Book Fair in Charlotte. Among the well-known authors who will be in Charlotte for the fair are Dubose Heyward, Thomas Wolfe, and others.

Officers of the Association are Charlie Dunnagan, business manager of The Technician, State, president; Warren Stack, Duke, first vice-president; Bill Staton, editor Old Gold and Black, Wake Forest, second vice-president; Georgie Underwood, business manager of The Coronet, Queens, secretary; and Dick Cowles, editor of The Davidsonian, Davidson, treasurer.

Publications Heads Chosen

Mauldin, Knee, Brown, And Springer To Publish Annual and Paper

Recently elected were the editors and business managers of the two publications of Queens-Chicora College, THE QUEENS BLUES, weekly newspaper of the college, and The Coronet, annual publication of the college.

Heading The Coronet staff are Sue Mauldin, as editor, and Ruth Knee, as business manager. Other staff members will be announced at the beginning of next year.

Annie Mae Brown and Betsy Springer, editor and business manager of THE BLUES, have announced their staff for the two issues to be printed before the close of school. Additional members will be announced next year from the freshman class.

Editorial staff is Henrietta McIver, associate editor; Madeline Lotterhos, assistant editor; Ermine Waddill, news editor, Virginia Smith, feature editor; Peggy Williams, society editor; Elizabeth Brammer, sports editor; Mildred Sneeden, exchange editor; and Sara Thompson, poetry editor.

Reporters are Catherine Raeford, June Escott, Maujer Moseley, Ellen Hardee, Peggy Harrison, Judith Killian, Frances Hunter, and Marguerite Craven.

Business staff consists of Georgie Hurt, assistant business manager; Betty Purser, advertising manager; Brooksie Folger, circulation manager.

Advertising staff members are Mary Payne, Sue Welch, Olivia Gillespie, Mary Alice Petteway, Hilda McManus, Dorothy Alexander, Lucielle Gwaltney, Bonnye Cox, Harriet Donnelly, Dorothy Muse, Lucy Williams, Elizabeth Imbody, Carolyn Edwards, and Julia Edwards.

The Rev. Herbert Spaug, pastor of the Little Church on the Lane in Charlotte, has been substituting for the past two weeks in the history department for Professor R. V. Kennedy, who has been confined to his home because of illness.

Councils Are Elected Here

Leaders Of Organizations Are Announced For Coming Year

Elections of the councils for the Day Student Association, Student Christian Association, Boarding Student Organization, and Athletic Council were held April 23 and 27 in chapel. Helen Cumnock, newly-elected president of the Student Government Association, presided.

President of the day students is Eleanor Jenkins; vice-president, Margaret Duckett; secretary, Lucielle Gwaltney; treasurer, Caroline Edwards; senior representative, Martha Rayburn; junior representative, Dorothy Duckett; and sophomore representative, Maujer Moseley.

The Student Christian Association is headed by Mildred Lowrance. Officers include Olive Crosswell as boarding student vice-president; Agnes Hope Gwaltney, day student vice-president; Sara Durant, secretary; and Helen Hatcher, treasurer. Others serving on the council will be Mildred Sneeden, boarding student representative; Virginia Smith, day student representative; Anne Triplett, senior representative; Anne Fuller, junior representative; Dorothy Longenecker, sophomore representative; Frances Reins, hostess of the Hut; Katherine M. Martin, church work chairman; Jean Ferguson and Sue Mauldin, publicity; Alene Ward, Mary Louise Spratt, and Jane David, program committee; Eleanor Alexander, Dorothy Carson, and Enid Waggett, music committee.

Those elected to Athletic Council, of which Cree Roberts is president were Jean Craven, vice-president; Anne Fuller, secretary; and Elizabeth Brammer, treasurer.

Boarding student council, of which Sally McDowell is president, is made up of three house presidents, Sara Durant, in Morrison; Marguerite Craven, in North; and Katherine M. Martin, in South; secretary, Hannah McNulty; treasurer, Eleanor Eddy; senior representative, Marjorie Timms; junior representative, Elaine Suber; and sophomore representative, Virginia Cothrane.

May Day Is Observed At Queens Today

Jenkins To Be Crowned By Wiley On Front Campus This Afternoon

May Day festivities, annual climax of the spring season, will take place on the Queens-Chicora campus this afternoon. Using a medieval theme, the queen will be crowned amid a throng of dancing peasants and ladies of the court.

Dorothy Carson will be the accompanist and will provide the opening music to which the maids of the court will enter, followed closely by the flower girls, Rosa White, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. Preston White, and Jane Crane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crane. The maid-of-honor, Jane Wiley, of Charlotte, will precede the Queen of the day, Helen Jenkins, of Charlotte, who will be crowned by Miss Wiley. The crown-bearer is to be Billy Erwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Erwin of Great Fall, S. C., while the two little train-bearers are to be Sara Clark Bullard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Bullard, and Virginia Anne Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Green.

Following this crowning, the queen and her court will watch the enactment of a peasant story. The tale, which centers around the little princess, June Escott, and the prince, Sara Shelton, begins with a ribbon dance of gaily dressed peasants, in celebration of the betrothal of the princess to the prince. The princess, who does not know her future husband, disguises herself and mingles with the dancing peasants. There the prince finds her and falls in love with her. There is great rejoicing when her true identity is disclosed.

Jennie Linn Wright, as a peasant girl, and Margaret Flowe, as a peasant boy, will execute a special dance. Court musicians will be Ermine Waddill, Marie Roseman, and Vera Boulware. Carolyn Hartman will be court jester. The leading ladies of the court of the princess are to be Nancy

(Continued on page four)

Cadets Come To College

While attending a convention here in Charlotte last week, a group of ten Salvation Army cadets from the Atlanta training school presented a program in chapel Tuesday morning, April 26.

In addition to talks on the foundation, meaning, and work of the Army, several sacred songs were sung by the group.

This unique program made clear the many services that are quietly carried on by the great army of Salvation workers. The cadets were traveling with Captain Eunice Ward, a teacher in the Atlanta training school.

The rising junior class elected its officers for the coming year. Thursday morning, April 28, in chapel.

The respective officers are Anne Fuller, president; Lucielle Gwaltney, vice-president; Carolyn Hartman, secretary; and Martha Stoner, treasurer.

Retiring officers of the class are Eleanor Guyton, president; Hannah McNulty, vice-president; Anne Fuller, secretary; and Madeline Lotterhos, treasurer.