Remember? This is Sally being crowned Queen of Popularity. Whom do we see? Why, there's Cowbell, Jimmy-lambie, Davie-baby, Sally, Bread and Butter Covington, Kissing Bee Ehrhardt, Winnie, and way back there Harry the Sophisticate. Sweet, isn't it? Cute, too. Candid, to say the least.

Browsing With The Blues

Christmas is approaching with a gait that surprises us—before you know it, we will be back from vacation and ready (?) for semester exams. But before you go home, you might shop around a bit in those few hours you'll have before bus-time. A few definite hints, gleaned from our advertising copy, might be helpful. You know, you always have five hours or so to waste—so we'll help you waste it.

Pound and Moore are featuring their beautiful gift shop especially at this time of year, although it is just as helpful the year around in the line of birthdays, anniversaries, and so forth. Drop in and look around—your mother and grandmother would appreciate a gift from there.

If you have a few hours, you might drop in the Imperial Theatre to see Jane Withers in her latest scream. And don't forget that there's a midnight show the night before Christmas and the night after New Year's Day. You can always have heaps of fun there.

Out of money for Christmas? Why don't you look to the future and start an account in the Christmas Saving Club at the Commercial National Bank for next year the very day you come back from Christmas? You can start it now if you feel you have a bit of spare cash.

Garibaldi and Bruns have beautiful silverware for your favorite bride of the season—and don't forget that we have a few brides from Queens this Christmas—drop in and ask about their pattern. They can always use an extra salad fork or so.

To be sure, you aren't ready for Christmas if you don't have at least one new pair of shoes. Gilmer-Moore have those shoes you love to see on your own feet—comfortable, too, and in the height of fashion. You might like a new pair of evening slippers to wear with your new frock from Lucielle's. And they really have some lovely ones. Honestly, it's dangerous to let me loose in with them because the most exquisite nets, chiffons, taffetas, everything you can imagine are there for the buying.

Louise Jones, 1118 Dilworth Road, Charlotte, N. C.
 Mrs. Roy Ledford, 247 Hillside Ave., Charlotte, N. C.
 Catherine Moore, Route 2, Matthews, N. C.

Elizabeth McCall, 379 Ridgeway, Charlotte, N. C.
 Mrs. Bob McKay, 2026 Beverly Drive, Charlotte, N. C.
 Anne Pease, 1236 E. Morehead, Charlotte, N. C.
 Clinton Powell, 911 Ardsley Road, Charlotte, N. C.
 Carolyn Sibley, 1405 Beverly Drive, Charlotte, N. C.
 Sybil Trexler, Nondsmont Apartments, Concord, N. C.
 Julia Thomas, 2601 Selwyn Ave., Charlotte, N. C.
 Mrs. Evelyn Wrenn, 726 E. Kingston Avenue, Charlotte, N. C.
 Mary McDevitt, 1034 Ardsley Road, Charlotte, N. C.

You couldn't pass a Christmas without giving a picture to the one and only. Or else to the family, if you'd rather put it that way. You can get six of those little miniatures that look so well on his desk for only a dollar and a half at Rembrandt's. They're little gems—and you know, it's the little things that count.

Buy a few bags of Dixie Krisp potato chips for your trip on the bus. They're always fresh and as crisp as their name. They go well for bridge parties, luncheons, too, during the holidays and all the time.

Ivey's has that same good gift shop this year that we haunted last year, and they are so nice as to throw in some of our girls to wait on us, so that you can get some of your visiting done at the same time you shop for those gifts. Run up and see Ann and Betsy and the rest and finish your shopping.

Walk up to the Queens Grill before you leave school—for that last minute view of the dear old place you live during the year in the afternoons. Their sandwiches are delicious, too, if you decide to lunch there before going up town.

When you come back from the holidays with all those dirty clothes, remember to send them to the Model Laundry for cleaning and freshening up. They do a nice job and get them back on time.

Walgreen's have a selection of things to buy that are quite clever. You should see the little motorcycle, siren and all, that one of the girls got there for her fellow—so he can't say he doesn't have a way to come to get her.

When you come back, your glasses are sure to need adjusting because you'll look at everything so hard while you're home—so you can remember him-er home until Spring holidays. Just take them down to Palmer's and have them fixed.

If you bring the car back for a few days, or if he brings you back, take him down to Charlotte Service Station and fill 'er up. They'll do a good wash job, too, if you drove through mud.

Call on the Pet Dairies for your ice cream during the holidays. They'll fix you up with any flavor you desire and in a convenient carton, too.

The Broadway Theatre is showing Treasure Island and if you missed it before, you must be sure to see it now. It is an excellent picture and one to put down in your little book.

Remember to buy a package of Lance cheese crackers for your trip and a Seven-Up to drink with them—or if, you like, wait to freshen up at the end of the trip with your drink.

If you're having lunch downtown, try Tenner's for good sea food. We know your weakness for shrimp cocktail and they have the best you can get.

For your beauty's sake, drop in at Grace Beauty Salon and have your hair fixed for Christmas while you wait for your bus.

Or go down and eat at the Wooden Bowl with one of our Queens alums.

She serves delicious meals any time you can make it.

The Carolina Theatre will be showing The Citadel, and all of you have heard what a marvelous picture it is, so waste your two hours there.

Or run over to Frank's Permanent Wave Shop and have your wave permanented for the holidays—remember, it might rain!

Bring back those rundown shoes from too much running and call up Coley's Shoe Repair to come for them. They fix them up right and deliver them back to you.

If you've yet to buy Little Brother's gift, drop in at Faul and Crymes and buy him that baseball or football or maybe it's a tennis racquet he wants. Whatever it may be, if it's in the line of sports, they have it.

And if you're weary of living, think of McAlister-Carson and of the beautiful future you can have in retirement if you take out a policy with them after you graduate, and you'll want to live on.

Eckerd's is featuring Seventeen products and you'd profit to look in on them. Make yourself beautiful for him by making yourself young.

Duke Power has just the lamp that your Granny has wanted so she could see her knitting—and don't forget that she's making that sweater for you, so buy her an indirect lamp there and please little Reddy Kilowatt.

If it's Chinese food you crave, Oriental is the place for you, because they have the most delicious Chinese creations you can imagine.

And if you want just good American food, go to Thacker's for the best ever. It's convenient to all the theatres and so forth, so go on in for lunch.

Bring back those wrinkled and dirty dresses and send them right over to Zoric Cleaning—it's the best you can find.

Parker-Gardner has a complete set of records of all the pieces you've wanted for so long, so, why don't you splurge and buy your own Christmas present there?

Drop in at Holmes Drugs for your bit of refreshment—the one out on Selwyn is so convenient, so do your daily dozen walking out.

S & P has those crisp crackers you love to eat, so eat them. Their sweet crackers are something to please, too.

And as a last remark, remember to economize at your feed when you come back, by buying at Downtin's Food Store. They're nice to trade with.

This is not very interesting
 But if
 You have read this far already
 You will Probably
 Read as far as this:
 And still
 Not really accomplishing
 Anything at all
 You might Even read on
 As far as this,
 Which brings you to
 The line you are reading now
 And after all that you are still
 Probably dumb enough to keep right on Making
 A dope
 Out of yourself
 By reading
 As far down
 The page
 As
 This.

—Princeton Tiger.

Little Willie six-year ripe
 Picked up Papa's trusty pipe,
 He took one puff and on his pan
 Was the expression:
 Today I am a man.

Such a little figure,
 So slender and so neat,
 Such little teeth, such little ears,
 Such dainty little feet,
 Such little hands, such little nails,
 Without a blotch or stain—
 How apt that they should harmonize
 With such a little brain.
