Hello Again:

From the looks on the faces of all those who have returned from the holidays, one can easily see that they had a grand and glorious time and are eagerly "anticipating" all the fine diversions ahead of them, ag: tests, research papers, and last (please pardon this, girls) the fatal exams.

But to attend to business: Lib Brammer made a nice and quite extended visit to Christianburg where she undoubtedly came to a definite decision concerning those pins (and I don't mean safety!) because they've been alternated again.

Sara DuRant visited in Pinchurst and Southern Pines where Ralph and Henny landed and of course Little Ehrhardt was already there.

Ellen Hardee had as her guest in Graham, Sue McNulty and ask them about the "sparks that flew."

Margaret Mc and Nank Raley rushed to Clinton last week-end — what vehicles can do for one!

Nannette Sherard made another trip to Abbeville and found everything in order.

Lib and Little Erhardt spent last week-end with Hilda, and Clyde made a very good impression again when he agreed to take "three of such" all the way to McBee.

The Poole sisters gave the best feed in ages on Sunday night . . . strawberry shortcake and everything.

Martha and Annette have a wonderful tan acquired when tooting around in Buck's convertible over the holidays.

Hilda reports snow on Easter in New York and a grand time, concerning everything.

There were just loads of alumnae who hadn't been out for a long time at the feed last Sunday night. It was great fun discussing old times and things in general.

Now that Spring Holidays are a thing of the past, everyone is trying to settle down to routine life again. But what with so few week-ends left, all our girls are packing them chuck full of gala events.

For instance, last week-end found Sara Kelly, Virginia Hickman, and Marie in attendance at the SPE banquet and dance. Tena Grainger spent the week-end in Charleston where she went to the Citadel dances, while June Escott once again jaunted to Lexington, Va., for the V.M.I. hops. Frances Stough represented Theta Gamma at the Spring Elusian, held at Chapel Hill and reported a marvelous time. Judith Killian visited at Duke and is now at Charleston attending the Southern Collegiate Press meeting there. And Mary Payne is happy because she is in Clemson for Taps, and with Tebee this time.

Good times were the theme for the Easter holidays. Dot Meyers and Betty Carr went to Georgia, Eleanor visited Mildred in Wilmington (and has been running a florist shop in her room ever since) Peggy went home with Sally, and Virginia Smith visited Hulda McNinch in Washington. Otherwise everyone went to their respective homes.

Cummock is busily attending all the conferences and conventions which this time of the year brings. During the holidays she went to William and Mary.

Sally Crosland spent part of last week-end in the infirmary and then spent the early part of last week at home recuperating.

Little Sisters were recently honored at one of our Sunday night feeds. Among those there were: Pony Monroe, June Burkes, Ann and Betty Mauldin, Alice and Betty Payne, Mary Louise Hovis, Louise Pitts and several others. Tomorrow night finds the fathers of the members being honored at the feed.

Jean Ferguson is in Raleigh this week-end, where she is attending the State dances.

This'n That From Here'n There— Well, all the girls are settling down to real work now—we're all beginning to realize how short a time there is until exam time . . . Everyone went home or somewhere for the spring holidays . . . Judy is still at home with a cold . . . Judy went to Washington with Mary Lou for a couple days . . . Mary Lib visited in Fayetteville and reports an all-round good time . . . Spoon went home to Burlington and was unable to come back until Monday because she got sick . . . Jenny Linn came back Monday too because she was nursing a sore toe—ask her what was wrong with it . . . Mrs. J. Luther Snyder, one of our patronesses, entertained our whole chapter at a lovely tea Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock—We were all thrilled to death and had quite the best time ever . . . Martha Wearn Caldwell, Doris Gambrell, Jean and Doodle Dullin, Margaret Boykin, and Tibby Dooly were guests at the feed Sunday night . . . Georgie, Lil, Mary Lou and Dot Muse were guests at the SPE dinner dance last Saturday evening . . . Georgie and Ermine are at Charleston this week-end attending the Southern press convention — they were mighty excited when they left Thursday morning . . . Bonnye went on the educational art tour to New York, Washington, and Williamsburg last week—she reports that everything about the "big city" was perfectly scrumptious . . . Marguerite went to the Pika ball in Raleigh last week-end or two ago . . . Olive attended a Presbyterian Student's convention in Raleigh last week-end . . . Em Ferguson is doing it up right this summer—she's not only going to the sorority convention in Yellowstone Park this June along with Ruth and Ermine but is also going on out to California for about three weeks—It doesn't stop there—Then she's going to the New York Fair and then sails for South America for an extended tour which will end the last of August—Some graduation present we'd say . . . Dot Hoppe entertained at an informal tea last week in honor of Katherine Hallett Ray, one of Dot's best friends and the daughter of our patroness, Mrs. H. K. Hallett . . . Hatch, Alice, Fannie and Margaret have changed the arrangement of their rooms—they have four beds in one room and have made the other room into a living room and study—quite the stuff!

Phi Mu

With Libba Harms' and Dot Alexander's return to Charlotte Monday, all the Phi Mu find themselves back at the dear old Alma Mater trying hard to settle down to the last quarter's grind, in spite of memories of gay holidays.

Libba and Dot, by-the-way, had been to New York with the art class, accompanied by Mrs. Huffman, our faculty adviser, to make a tour of the Fair and see the sights in the big city itself.

Betsy and Mimi drove up to Richmond to visit their relatives. But it wasn't just the relatives who gave them such a big time. Mimi says dinner at the Seminary was quite hilarious. Some preachers they have there, eh Mimi?

Seems everyone was receiving Easter bouquets though, what with Rush and Bill in Charlotte to see the Edwards sisters; and Jane at Alene's in Tryon with all the rest of the Wards, too, of course.

We can just guess how thrilled Henry was when Ruthie got home. And Ruthie says that she saw the rush Alene was getting at the Tryon dances from a certain Spartanburg doctor.

They say Billie Harmon was in somewhat of a pickle because all the boys got home at once and just couldn't keep dates straight. Lucy didn't have that trouble though because we think her heart interest is gradually narrowing down to one.

We thought Helen Westerfield was interested in sophomores at Carolina, but it was the freshman dances last week-end. Betty Kale was one of the world's happiest girls because she took in the dances at State.

But speaking of happy people, you should see Betty Gardner since she's found out her family from Pennsylvania is going to meet her in Washington this week-end where she's attending District convention as Gamma Gamma delegate. Martha Johnston, the alumna delegate, is going with Betty on the train, and Alene and Betsy are driving up. (Going by the University of Virginia by the way.)

Last Sunday night at the feed we enjoyed having as our guests Miss Patrick, Miss Jones, Miss Vann, and Miss Lebby.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Gamma Gamma's members have wandered far and wide just recently. The most outstanding place to which they went was New York. The lucky girls were Lela Hughes and Frances Trulock. "Huffy" nearly walked their legs off, but they went to some very exciting places. Lela, by the way, won first place in the Freshman charcoal drawing division at the exhibition. Roommate Glenn is stepping out to hayrides these days. She's going to one Thursday and another next Tuesday.

A whole bunch of us took in Harriette's wedding Tuesday. It was really lovely. Cornelia, of course, was maid-of-honor. Jo, Betty, and Mary and Lois Wilson were bridesmaids. Kay, Virginia, and Hazel served at the reception.

Jebbie spent the week-end in town and missed the most important phone call. Long distance and all that sort of thing.

Spring holidays were wonderful—specially for those Alabama girls who only get home once in a great while.

Today is International Reunion Day—and also the day we welcome Gamma Delta chapter at Auburn, Alabama, into our fraternity. There will be a luncheon and banquet at the Hotel Charlotte and meetings at the house in the afternoon. Very exciting and very interesting too.

Light costs so little today that everyone can afford good lighting. Ruined eyesight is costly in medical attention, discomfort, lost time and decreased personal efficiency.
