Queens To Give Music With Davidson

State Club Meets Here

Home Economics Students Have Annual Convention

The State Home Economic Student's Association will hold its annual convention at Queens-Chicora November 24 and 25.

Mrs. Robert A. Cotten of Fuquay Springs, student advisor, will be in charge of the convention. Scottie McNulty, State President of the Association, will preside at the opening meeting at 2:30 on Friday, Nov. 24. Catawba College will present shadow pictures of historical costumes; Waxhaw High School will give a Skit on Table Etiquette; and model club program will be presented by Meredith College.

The Pan Hellenic Association will be hostesses to the delegates at 4:30 on Sorority Row.

In Efrid's Dining Room at 7 o'clock a Banquet will be given in honor of visiting delegates. The program will consist of special music, community singing, and a presentation of Fashions for the teen ages.

The delegates will spend the night at the Selwyn Hotel and in private homes.

On Saturday, Nov. 25 a joint meeting will be held at 10 o'clock for both High School and College delegates. The two groups will be divided at 10:30 and Miss Clara B. Slaton will speak to the college group on "Essentials to Success in a Home Economics Career." Miss Catherine Dennis, State Supervisor of Home Economics Education, will speak to the High School group.

The girls of the Junior class of Home Economics here at Queens are making a cook book of their favorite recipes, "Food To A Queen's Taste," which they will sell to the visiting delegates.

There will be around 400 delegates present. Four Student delegates and one teacher will attend from each affiliated club and two student delegates and one teacher from each non-affiliated club.

Art Teacher On Program

The Queens-Chicora weekly radio program over WSOC Thursday night, featured Mrs. Esther Huffman, head of the school art department.

Mrs. Huffman was interviewed on her recent trip to Turkey by Dr. Godard, dean of instruction.

Next week the program will feature among others, Marie Roseman and her violin.

The broadcast last Thursday was the second in the series of weekly programs over WSOC at 7:15 sponsored by Queens-Chicora College. The broadcasts over WBT are expected to begin in the near future.

Alpha Iota Has Party

The active members of Delta Psi chapter of Alpha Iota international honorary business sorority at Queens-Chicora college entertained the new pledges of the organization at a party Wednesday evening, November 15. The party was held at the home of Miss Mary Franklin on Biltmore Drive.

The new pledges of the honorary organization are Elizabeth Imbody, Caroline Miller, Mary Alice Petteway, Ermine Waddill, all of Charlotte, juniors; Ann Mauldin and Annette McIver of Charlotte, and Jane Montgomery of Reidsville, sophomores; and Lucy Moose of Charlotte, Renette Israel of Lumberton, Jackie Ackerman of Charlotte, Mary Elizabeth Richardson of Hamlet, Ina Lewis Forney of Shelby, Evelyn Harris of Monroe, Billie McFarland of Charlotte, Jean Carol Gwaltney of Charlotte, and Elaine Kale of Charlotte, members of the one-year business class.

Officers and members of the active chapter are Ileita Caldwell of Concord, president; Callie McElroy of Charlotte, vice-president and pledge captain; Helen Cochrane of Charlotte, corresponding secretary; Marjorie Poole of Mullins, chaplain, Dorothy Dixon of Charlotte, historian and recording secretary; Miss Mary Inglis, sponsor; Miss Thelma Edwards, sponsor; Anne Fuller, treasurer; Margaret Barnett, Miss Virginia Hutchison, Miss Ann Vann, and Mrs. Nancy Alexander Stott.

To Feature Departments

Beginning with this issue of THE QUEENS BLUES there will be in each issue a feature on some department of the school.

Many students go through four years of college without knowing a thing about any department but the particular ones they have chosen to major in. For the purpose of familiarizing outsiders with the inside on

Elect Heads For Quill

Spectator Council Elects Editor and Bus. Manager

The editor and business manager of the Spectator Club magazine The Queens Quill were elected recently by the club. They are Julia Edwards and Mary Jane Hart respectively.

At the last meeting of the whole Spectator Club, it was announced that a new ruling had been passed by Spectator council concerning the Davidson parties. It is to the effect that members of the three divisions, Book Tea, Creative Writing, or Dramatics have to attend a minimum of three meetings before being allowed to go to the Davidson-Queen's literary society parties. As there are two parties, members have to attend at least three meetings prior to each party.

Last year's editor of The Queens Quill was Henrietta McIver of Gulf; the business manager was Alene Ward of Charlotte.

Members of Spectator Council are Henrietta McIver, president of the Spectator Club; Mimi Bradbam of Sumter, S. C., secretary-treasurer; Jennie Lynn Wright of Landis, leader of the Dramatic group; Mary Gunn of Sanford, leader of the Book-Tea group; and Pan Peyton of Davidson, leader of the Creative Writing group.

the various departments here, one article will appear each week.

The art department is being featured in this week's issue of the paper. The article was written by one of the art majors. Next week the department of Religion will be reviewed. This series of articles will be written by the students themselves.

Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership fraternity, presented Miss Janet Robinson on the chapel program last Wednesday morning.

Miss Robinson, a graduate of Queens-Chicora, is now the Bible teacher at Central High School. The subject of her talk Wednesday was "Leadership."

"Leadership," said Miss Robinson, "is a deep responsibility. It means you have started to climb. It means you have caught a vision and seem compelled to climb toward that vision. But it is impossible to do it alone. God must be beside you; without him we can do nothing."

"Others climb with you because they see the vision through your life, and they trust you. Thus, you are a leader."

Miss Robinson used this Bible verse to illustrate her points: "Be ye therefore perfect even as my Father in Heaven is perfect." She stressed the point that there is really only one leader who sets the standards of leadership for the entire world. That is the type of leadership, she added, that we should have on our campus. We should remember to put first things first.

Our speaker discussed the problem of factions working in schools which kept girls from being elected to offices because of the organizations to which they might belong. She pointed out how such acts prevented us from doing bigger and greater things.

"We should," stated Miss Robinson, "accept the challenge to attempt the highest ideal. We should never be satisfied but keep climbing with our ideal before us."

The Staff Features The Art Department

There are any number of openings in the modern business world for the trained artist, and our art department here at Queens is training its majors to hold responsible positions after graduation.

Under the excellent direction of Mrs. Esther W. Huffman, each girl spends four years acquiring skill in her special field. At present we have girls who will be designers of our future wardrobes, others who will decorate our homes, and still others who will create the designs of the fabrics we buy in the store. Also, we have girls who plan to decorate department store windows, illustrate for publications, do routine commercial printing and designing, teach art, or paint portraits or landscapes.

Since last year, the art majors have started taking a trip to New York sometime during the year. In this tour, they visit the famous museums in New York and Washington, some of the best art schools, department stores, and commercial photographers. While there, a tour of New York, several plays, a tour of Rockefeller Center, and a time for shopping are included in the itinerary. The trip last year was most successful, enabling many girls to see New York economically. We stayed in a dormitory at Columbia University while in New York.

In the near future, several of the art students are going to paint some murals on the walls of Miss Ethel King's dramatic studio in Burwell

Hall. These murals will depict the history of the theater, and will show historical costumes and masks.

Soon, we are to have twenty new tilt-top easel desks for the twenty art majors. Some of the girls are working up block prints to be printed on the curtains in the art lab.

We plan to have at least two exhibits of our own work this year, sponsored by the Paint Palette Club, one each semester.

Several of our girls have work that placed first in the state art contest which was held in Chapel Hill last year. These pictures are now part of a state-wide travelling exhibit.

In the future we are expecting our progressive art department to achieve even higher recognition.
