

Queens To Hold Annual Summer Music School

Session To Run One Month In July

This summer the Queens College Summer School of Music will be held from June 17 to July 25. Regular credit courses will be offered. There will be individual vocal and instrumental instruction. Among the courses to be offered are piano, organ, violin, viola, 'cello, woodwind, brass; also voice, theory of music, history of music, introduction to music literature, and symphonic literature. Other courses may be arranged.

There will be choral groups and a combined Queens-Davidson orchestra, which will meet several times a week.

Girls registered for this summer session will stay in the dormitories on the Queens campus. Special arrangements have been made with Davidson College for students in the music department of Queens College to take regular academic courses there, and thus make up deficiencies in their regular required work. The student, however, will be responsible for transportation between the colleges.

Credits may be earned as described in the Queens College catalogue for one semester. Applied music may earn one or two semester hours credit at a fee of $12.00 and $20.00, respectively. Theory and literature courses earn two or three semester hours at $5.00 per credit hour. High-school students are also welcome.

The faculty will be composed of Mrs. Elsie Stokes Moseley, Gordon W. Sweet, Miss Grace Robinson, Merle T. Kesler, and James Christian Pfohl, director of music. All facilities of the college will be available for the students.

Many students have already signed up for this extra session, which promises to be one of the most profitable which the college has yet sponsored. Anyone interested in taking courses in the summer music session should contact one of the faculty members immediately.

May Court Gives Dinner For Queen

On Wednesday night, May 7, the May Court of Miss Marie Pons honored her at a banquet held at Thacker's restaurant.

The banquet hall was decorated with mixed garden flowers. The members of the court presented Miss Pons a piece of silver in her pattern. Miss Cornelia Truesdale, of Kershaw, S. C., maid of honor for the festival, was in charge of the dinner.

Miss Pons, who is from Valdese, N. C., was crowned queen of the May yesterday at 4 o'clock. The Athletic Association was sponsor for the program, which was well presented by Miss Henderson, physical education director.

The physical education department was assisted by the home economics and music departments.

Movie Studio Offers Contest For New Music

To all potential music composers at Queens has come an offer from the Hal Roach Studios in Hollywood for "fame, fortune and success" in return for creative college music to be used in a forthcoming musical revue, "Campus Rhythm."

Requests for ballads, swing numbers, or novelty tunes have been sent to all of the leading colleges. The customary royalties and $250 will go to the composer of the most outstanding number selected.

All compositions must be received at the Hal Roach Studios not later than midnight of Wednesday, May 28, as production on "Campus Rhythm" begins on June 6. The contest results will be announced before the release of the picture in order to stir up national publicity and college spirit.

Hoagy Carmichael, Leroy Prinz, and Hal Roach will judge the prize-winning song. The winning tune chosen by them will become the property of the Hal Roach Studios. All other selections will be returned.

Art Exhibit To Be Shown Wednesday

It has just been announced by Mrs. Esther Wright Huffman, head of the art department, that an exhibit of work done in the art classes this year will be held Wednesday afternoon, May 14, from 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock.

Special guests and parents have been invited to see the exhibit. Tea will be served by members of the Paint and Palette Club.

Among the art works to be exhibited are several watercolor compositions from Mr. Gregory Ivey's class. These include abstract art, landscapes, and still life. Miss Margaret True's class in advertising will exhibit advertising layouts.

Alpha Kappa Gamma Picks Cookie Scoggin For Next Year's Head

Fraternity Elects Its New Officers

At a special meeting held last Wednesday, April 30, in the Y hut on Queens campus, Cookie Scoggin, of Conway, S. C., was elected to act as president of Alpha Kappa Gamma for the coming school year. Other members include: Mary Payne and Mildred Taylor of Charlotte; Jean Ferguson, of Riverside, Illinois; Jane Montgomery, of Reidsville, N. C.; Virginia Cothran, of Timmonsville, S. C.; Lib Brammer, of Christiansburg, Va., Frances Brockington of Elberton, Georgia; Julia Miller, of Whitmire, South Carolina; and Misses Mary Denny, Grace Robinson, Clara Slaton, and Dr. Lucile Delano.

The new officers will begin their duties immediately.

Alpha Iota Inducts Officers At Regular Spring Banquet

Places Range From Canada To Mexico, New York, Georgia and College Campuses

Queens students are not the only ones who are looking forward to the summer vacation. Members of the faculty also are eagerly planning for the summer months.

Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Byrd are planning to stay at Montreat in the mountains of North Carolina. They have a cabin there, and they make an annual visit to it.

Miss Cordelia Henderson will continue her study of physical education at Columbia University. She is continuing the course that she has been taking for the past two years.

Miss Alma Edwards will spend most of her vacation at her home, Carthage, North Carolina, but she is also planning a trip to Georgia.

Miss Laura Tillett plans to go to her cabin, "The Rafters" at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina.

Dean Clara Slaton will attend two conferences during the summer—one at Davidson and the other at Crawfordville, Georgia.

During the first six weeks of the summer, Miss Mary Denny plans to assist the dean at Duke University. Then she will go to Wrightsville Beach for a visit.

Dr. Lucile Delano and Miss Jo Langford are planning to conduct an educational tour through Mexico.

Miss Ethel King will teach speech at the hospital for spastic children at Duke University. She will also visit in New York.

Miss Sarah Nooe is planning an extensive trip to Canada and northern New York.

Dr. Joseph Gettys is planning to attend the Young Peoples' Conferences, teaching a course in the Davidson College summer school and

Mr. Gordon Sweet will teach music at the Queens and Davidson summer school of music.

Dr. Dorisse Howe will spend the Summer at her home in Syracuse, New York. En route to her home she will travel through the Great Smoky Mountains.

Teachers To Spend Varied Vacations During Summer

The Delta Psi chapter of Alpha Iota held its annual spring banquet on May third at the Barringer Hotel. Red roses and the Alpha Iota colors of blue and white were used in the decorations.

Following the banquet, a candle-light installation of new officers was held by the retiring president, Carolyn Miller, and the marshal, Naomi Rouse. The officers installed were: Inez Fulbright, president; Yvonne Williams, vice-president; Nancy Jane Dandridge, corresponding secretary; Annette McIver, recording secretary; Lucy Hassell, social secretary; Jane Montgomery, treasurer;

Vivian McCorkle, historian; Mary Kate Kornegay, chaplain; and Louise Hall, marshal. Miss Helen Craig, the newly-elected parliamentarian, was unable to attend the banquet.

Carolyn Miller, Miss Mary Inglis, the sponsor, Annette McIver, and the graduating members were presented with pins bearing the Alpha Iota seal.

SLIPS and PETTISKIRTS
 for the new "little girl" fashions

Back to the be-ribboned, be-ruffled styles of your little girl days. The camisole-topped slip to wear with your sheer blouses—the pettiskirt to mate with separate camisoles. Both are of Radia, that soft, shimmering rayon fabric, and edged at the hem with a bewitching ruffle of lacey-sheer Exotique.

Whisk them in soap suds—no ironing needed, except a pat here and there to freshen the ribbons and ruffles.
