QUEENS COLLEGE, CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Vol. XXIX—No. 3

QUEENS RECEIVES PORTRAITS

Department of Home Progresses Steadily Toward Completion

On October 30, Mr. Stultz turned the first spade of ground as he presented the gift of a new department of the home to Queens. Mr. McAlister Carson, Mr. J. W. Thompson, and Mr. Hunter Marshall also took part in the ceremony. Mr. Carson presided at the ceremonies, and Mr. Marshall expressed the appreciation of the board of trustees and of the college.

This building will be used especially for the foods and clothing laboratories. In addition, it will provide facilities for teaching skills, techniques, and recreations related to home life. There will be a living room, dining room, kitchen, crafts room, and a small auditorium for lectures, films, and demonstrations.

Mr. Stultz has long been interested in our college and has donated four scholarships annually for the past twenty years. He and Mrs. Stultz have continued their interest in the young women who have attended the college with the aid of their scholarships and have kept records of their careers and professional attainments.

Polio Foundation Solicits Funds

Four out of five of all reported cases of infantile paralysis require aid, in whole or in part, from funds raised during the annual March of Dimes of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Even those who do not need direct assistance from their local chapters benefit, however, because of better-staffed and equipped hospitals and more knowledge about treatment, which have come about in large part because of the March of Dimes.

Since the establishment of the National Foundation 13 years ago, it is estimated that costs of polio patient care alone used up 94 per cent of a billion dimes—$94,000,000!

Of this vast amount, almost two-thirds was spent for patient care in the 1948-50 period, during which a staggering total of some 100,000 cases was reported.

What 1951 holds in store for us no one can say. But approximately 54,000 polio patients in 1950 needed some help for care or treatment, 30,000 of those patients from 1949 or earlier. From this picture, it is evident that 1951's responsibilities are grave. The American people, knowing the need, must make the 1951 March of Dimes the greatest polio fund-raising drive in history!

Livingston Delivers Educational Talk

Sir Richard Winn Livingston, eminent English educator, now visiting professor at Emory University, Georgia, lectured at Queens College in Ninniss Auditorium January 12th at 8:15 P. M. He has recently returned from a speaking tour in New England and Canada. He will be at Emory until March when he will leave for the West coast for a lecture tour and teaching assignments.

Sir Richard, who was created knight in 1931, is the author of the currently popular book, Education in a World Adrift. He has written numerous critical studies in the classics, and during the last decade has turned to writing books and articles in the educational field.

The speaker attended Oxford University; and, served on the faculties of Eton College; Queen's University, Belfast; and St. Hugh's College, Oxford, and as a fellow, tutor, librarian, and president of Corpus Christi College, Oxford. He holds the honorary degrees of Doctor of Literature and Doctor of Letters from several British universities and colleges.

Professor Walton Announces Summer School Schedule

The faculty and administration of Queens College will conduct a summer session from June 6th through July 14th, 1951. All courses will be on the undergraduate level and will carry full academic credit. In order to enroll for such credit, a student must meet the admission requirements of the college; but provision for auditing courses in all departments will be made for students who do not desire college credit.

The summer session provides for five weeks with classes meeting six days a week. With the exception of those enrolled in the science classes, no student will be allowed to carry more than six semester hours. Science classes will be continued until July 1st in order that eight semester hours credit may be earned in any one of the science courses. All lecture classes will meet in the afternoon.

Robert Shaw Presents Chorale at Davidson

A number of Queens students and faculty members attended a concert by the famed Robert Shaw Chorale on January 10th, in Davidson. The concert was held in Chambers Auditorium as one of the Davidson Artist Series. Composed of thirty-two men and women the chorale is a most versatile group, able to sing with equal ease music ranging in scope from Bach to hit songs from Broadway musicals. The program was as follows:

Requiem Mass in D Minor—Mozart
Waltzes, op. 52, 8-17—Brahms
Trois Chansons—Ravel

1. Nicolette
2. Trois beaux oiseaux du Paradie
3. Ronde

Porgy and Bess—Gershwin

1. "It Ain't Necessarily So"
2. "Lament for Brother Robbins Gone, Gone, Gone"

Encores included the popular "Oklahoma," a delightful arrangement of "Listen To The Mocking Bird," "Now April Has Come," "Polly Wally Doodle," "Nothing Like A Dame," and the Shaw closing specialty "Sit Down Servant."

...AUBURN SKETCHES...

—WILLODENE SMITH

The Queens College Spirit was really aflame at "The Fourth Quadrennial Youth Convention on the World Mission of The Church", held on the campus of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, Alabama, December 28-31, 1950. Fourteen Queens College students and seven former students exemplified Queens high place in Christian leadership; also Dr. Hunter B. Blakely was there to share the great spiritual experience.

Student enrollment numbered 1505, with delegates from five branches of the Presbyterian Church—Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.; Cumberland Presbyterian Church; The United Presbyterian Church; Associated Reformed

Presbyterian Church; and Presbyterian Church, U. S. These delegates represented Churches spreading over an area from Baltimore, Md., to Texas; from Oklahoma to the Atlantic Coast and to the tip of Florida. Negro as well as white delegates were present, together with twelve foreign delegates. These foreign delegates came from Japan, Korea, China, Germany, France, Brazil and Mexico. Added to this student enrollment were 200 adult leaders making a total enrollment of 1705.

The Church's most outstanding leaders were present to guide the thinking. Among these were such men as William M. Elliott, Jr., Pastor, Highland Park Presbyterian Church, Dallas, Texas; Colonel Frances Miller, one time chairman of the World Student Christian Federation and elder in the Charlottesville Presbyterian Church, Charlottesville, Va.; Vernon Broyles, Executive Secretary of the Board of Church Extension, Presbyterian Church, U. S.; Charles W. Ranson, General Secretary of the International Missionary Council, New York; C. Darby Fulton, Executive Secretary of the Board of World Missions, Presbyterian Church, U. S.; Charles T. Leber, Executive Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.; and Dr. Kenneth J. Foreman, professor of Theology at Louisville Presbyterian Seminary.

College Accepts Pictures Honoring Two Belk Brothers

The college in connection with the Belk interests has recently received two portraits—one of the late Dr. John M. Belk, the other of Mr. William Henry Belk. The artist that painted these is a well-known Washington portrait painter, one who has painted numerous prominent men in Washington.

The portraits are here and are framed. They will be hung in the narthex or main foyer on both sides of the main entrance. The exact positions have been selected but the portraits will not be hung until a future date. There will be a special ceremony at which the unveiling of these portraits will be done. The exact date of this ceremony will be announced later.

Ovens Gives Generous Gift To Queens College

One of the most pleasant events of the Christmas season to the faculty and students of Queens, was announcement of the generous gift of $250,000 which Mr. David Ovens made to Queens College. A unique feature of this donation is that its use is not designated. Mr. Ovens, a member of the board of trustees and the building committee of the college, realizes the progress Queens has made in recent years and its opportunities for a bright future. For this reason he is giving this money to the board of trustees to use as they see fit for the betterment of the college.

Mr. Ovens has been an outstanding leader in the civic, business, and religious activities of Charlotte for a number of years. He is Vice-President of J. B. Ivey's and Company. He has served as president of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce, Charlotte Community Concert Association, and the Good Fellows Club, a charity organization. He is a charter member of the Greater Charlotte Club, headed the first Community Chest drive in Charlotte, was chairman of the building committee for the new Presbyterian Hospital, and headed the campaign for raising the money for the hospital which was completed in 1940. In 1943 he served as general chairman of the Mecklenburg County campaign for the Red Cross, and he recently has served as chairman of the new auditorium-coliseum project for Charlotte. Each year he sponsors benefit performances at Blowing Rock to secure funds for Grandfather Orphanage at Banner Elk and the hospital at Blowing Rock. He is a member and ruling elder of the Myers Park Presbyterian
