

THE D. N. HIX HAPPENING

ISSUE I N NOVEMBER 15, 1971

Latin Is Where The Action Is

If you hear strange noises in Room 5, it may be Pluto as he orders his three headed dog Cerberus to bark at any outsider not yet ready for the Underworld. Again, it may be Pyramus and Thisbe, starcrossed lovers who meet their death after his blood dyed the mulberries red. Most likely, however, it will be Mrs. Satterwhite and her active students reliving the labors of Hercules. All together, Room 5 is truly where the action is at!

In addition, each Latin class has elected officers for class clubs. Their first program is planned for November 24th.

Are You Curious About People?

If you are, then you should be in Miss Davenport's class of home economics. The students are now studying interpersonal relationships, and dating. Together, the students are trying to unravel the mysteries of parent-child, brother-sister, friend-friend, and boy-girl relationships.

To improve your looks, stop in next at Mrs. Marshall's home economic class. The girls there are studying the art of making one'sself attractive. Moreover, they are trying to set up certain standards of hygiene, which all people should follow if they wish to be personal delights.

Do you have a problem? Anyone who believes that he needs advice should see Miss Brodie, our guidance counselor. She has visited several classrooms to speak on her guidance role, and to discuss the student handbook.

Interaction of Matter and Energy

This is the title of the book I am using in my classes. This is a laboratory approach to science which allows students to be creative and at the same time, develop scientific skills as they search for the answers themselves.

Much of the class time is spent in groups in laboratory sessions: conducting investigations, collecting and interpreting data, and drawing conclusions. The students find themselves involved by doing something, rather than reading about it or listening to the teacher explain the material.

Most of the students seem interested, and many are ready for the action when they enter the class room each day.

This approach really keeps me busy, but I enjoy the course along with the students, after I make the Lab preparation for the day.
