

without going through so much "red tape."

To Ruth Mary Gaylor, we give a piano, lest she forget her laboriously applied skill to run over the keys.

To Estelle Mitchell, we give complete volumes of Browning's and Tennyson's works to be read at her "leisure."

To George Ella Turner, we give the three summer months in which to rest from her heavy college duties.

To Mary Barbour, we give a Hudson Speedster without a certain gentleman who is always saying, "Tell Miss Barbour I'm passing."

To Margaret Barrett, we give an extended trip to Boston for we are sure that "Mack" wants to see "Jack."

To Rosa Jane Knott, we give the right to laugh when she pleases, especially in the play.

To Amy Rue Perry, we give a volume of "Poems" written by a special friend whom she knows at W. F. C.

To Sallie Mae Reaves, we give a maid to keep up with her belongings, for she always seems in great distress over some loss.

To Annie Lee Strickland, we give a ticket from Oxford to Rocky Mount, so that she will not have to get off at Dickerson.

To Gladys Hobgood, we give a book of prepared lessons so that she will not have to study so hard.

To Agnes Williamson, we give the right to go with an expert ball player, if she will be sure he is "Slim."

To Neade Hobgood we give the right to use her sweet disposition after she leaves, as well as she has here.

To Irene Whitfield, we give another diploma, as she is getting so few this year.

To Gladys Stroud, we give an alarm clock, so that she will not have to borrow one.

To Elizabeth Middleton, we give a book of songs, on the condition that she will learn them, so that when "He" comes, he can sing to his heart's content.

Class Officers

Gladys Tapp Jones, president.
Ruth Mary Gaylor, vice-president.
Laura Estelle Mitchell, secretary.
George Ella Turner, treasurer.

Bachelor of Arts

Gladys Tapp Jones, Rosa Jane Knott, Elizabeth Lake Middleton, Laura Estelle Mitchell, Gladys Lee Stroud, Irene Aurora Whitfield.

Bachelor of Science

Margaret Jack Barrett, George Ella Turner.

Bachelor of Music

Piano, Ruth Mary Gaylor; voice, Mary Franklin Barbour.

Graduates in School of Home Economics

Gladys Hester Hobgood, Neade Winifred Hobgood, Rosa Jane Knott, Amy Rue Perry, Sallie Mae Reaves, Annie Lee Strickland, Agnes Williamson, Irene Aurora Whitfield.

Class motto: "Rowing, Not Drifting."

Class colors: Old rose and silver.

Class flower: Killarney rose.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

State of North Carolina,
County of Granville,
Town of Oxford.

We the class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-two of the aforesaid state and county, being in sound mind, do hereby make this our last will and testament.

First: To Dr. Hobgood, our beloved President, and to the Faculty, we will a bunch of perfect girls who will obey all the rules and regulations of the Student Council.

Second: To Dr. Hobgood, in particular, we will an ample supply of rope with which to tie up all the college gates.

Third: To Mrs. Jones, our lady principal, we will an ideal Senior Class that will not go down town every day in the week.

Fourth: To Mrs. Woodall, our honorary member, we, the Senior Class, will our boundless love and wish her a long life of happiness.

Fifth: To Miss McMicking, our dean, we bequeath a new Latin Course without any composition.

Sixth: We will to Miss Boggs, a gentle set of girls for Recitation Hall, who will not disturb her slumber.

Seventh: To Miss Salls, we will an extensive Library, so that she may be able to assign more English parallel.

Eighth: To the Junior Class, we bequeath an abundant supply of boys who will keep them engaged in extensive work? We do give, bequeath and desire, to have, hold and exercise so long as they may remain at Oxford College, all of our Senior dignity, prestige, and privileges, and our perfect examination marks.

Ninth: To the Sub-Collegiate Class, we will a capacity for talking and a perfect Senior Class to imitate.

Tenth: To the Student Council, we will a private room in which to exercise all their duties.

Eleventh: To Beulah Martin, Thelma McGowan, Selma Jones, Beatrice McCraw, Mildred Oliver and Sallie Hoggard, we will the privilege of walking the Circle next year.

Twelfth: To the boys of the aforesaid town, we bequeath the street in front of the college, provided it be used next year as often as it has been this year.

We, the said class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-two, have to this, our last will and testament, subscribed our names and affixed our seal, this the twenty-second day of May, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-two.

Class of 1922.

(Seal)

JOKES

Irene W.—What did Miss Grace Salls teach at Bernard college?

Elizabeth—She taught auditory (oratory).

Arlene—I went to a vaudeville, while home Easter.

Sallie Mae—Did you ride on the "hobby horses?"

Agnes—Ruth Mary what year did you come here?

Ruth Mary—Why, I think it was 1718.

Gladys Stroud, seeing some carnations in Agnes Williamson's room, said, "What beautiful chrysanthemums."

Place—Domestic Lab.

Occasion—Senior demonstration.

Student—Changing her recipe in order to "save" the mayonnaise which had curdled from too rapid addition of oil. "Everybody makes mistakes"—"Even the Dean."