THREE CHEERS

Three cheers for the strategy, courage and perseverance demonstrated in the victory of the Tunisian Campaign of North Africa. Surely we can say, too, three cheers for the red, white, and blue. Who said the Americans were "forties"? They've got the intestinal fortitude (pardon this term boys, the girls might not approve the use of the word guts) to see this job well done, and the Germans, the Italians, and the Japanese well know this fact by this time.

It is encouraging to note that in addition to present military victories American soldiers are being given a progressive view point. As reported in the May issue of the Reader's Digest, "These Americans are being taught that the best results will be obtained 'by a policy of justice, honor, and humanity', that a military occupation 'marked by harshness, injustice or oppression' will leave 'lasting resentment' in the hearts of the German people and will 'soon the seeds of future war". This is the principle established in the U. S. Army School of Military Government. We must remember that we are not consistent when we say that the other fellow is inhuman and then follow this statement by indulging in some inhumane practices ourselves.

A policy of justice, honor and humanity is so strange to the present generation of Germans, Italians, and Japanese that force is now required to overcome their opposition to acceptance of such humane traits.

VISITORS FROM THE UNITED STATES ARMED FORCES:

Cliff Rose While here on furlough in the last week of April, "Red" visited us at the mills. He is now at Ocean City, Maryland where he has been stationed for the last four months. Ocean City is a summer resort and "Red" is looking forward to a big summer. Prior to being stationed here, he received his training at Curtis Bay, Maryland. He is a member of the mounted patrol. He expects to continue shore duty, keeping constant watch along the Maryland coast as he rides back and forth at night. Glad to have had you visit, "Red". Hope you will be back soon.

Joseph Harold Vester Now Cpl. Vester to you guys. Cpl. Vester visited the mills in the latter part of April. Harold is now stationed at Camp Howze, Texas where he is studying and learning to use heavy weapons. Further information restricted. He is a member of Wendel Wilkie's old division. Immediately prior to entering the Army Miss Dahlia Pitt became the bride of Harold Vester. Good luck to you, Corporal!
