

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT REPORTS-----BILL LAWSON

Now that the hog killing season is here most everyone has plenty of sausage but there is still plenty of baloney around.

We wish to inform Joe Braxton that A B C ration books are at a Premium. What's the matter, Joe--no write letter?

All employees of the engineering department wish their service men friends a special Merry Christmas". Hurry home boys--we need you.

Floyd Hedgepeth is now a Corporal in the Tank Corps. Nice work Floyd.

NEWS FROM THE WEAVING DEPARTMENT----Speight, Davis, Joyner

A certain fellow was going hunting with Randolph the other day. When he got there, Randolph was standing at the door with his gun in his hand. It was not known whether he was hunting game, or that long legged bird with the diaper safety pins---and now we know---the long legged bird.

Mr. & Mrs. Randolph Sutton announce the birth of Linda Harris Sutton December 9, 1943.

Ed Raper seems to be much brighter now. He has about caught up with his washing and has been hunting several times. The little girl is doing fine.

Worley Edwards went "up the country" to kill his hogs. He took J. S. Raper and Ed Raper along with him. Wonder how much fresh meat he will have when those wolves get through with him.

There has been quiet a lot of hog killing going on lately. More than ever before. Most of the boys have had pretty good luck with their meat though--thanks to the weather man. Boy, talk about hog haslets and chittelings---m---m---m.

Gus Riley has gone into the bird dog business. A report from a fellow huntaman the other day was that they put Gus' dog out when they started the hunt. The next time they saw him was late that night. He had wondered off to a house back in the country and was palling around with a flock of hound dogs. Did you say bird dog, Gus?

J. S. Raper has been selling pecans to all the boys around here. He has quite a grove of them. The yield was good this year. The other day he brought a sack of them down for a customer and left them in the Foreman's office. When the customer came up for them there were 5 pecans in the sack. Boy, was J. S. "burnt" up. Naughty-Naughty Foreman.

What house and what girl has Elmer Peele been visiting lately? We believe that he is about to marry the girl.

Cecil Hartley was deer hunting the other day and killed two nice ones. He reported also good luck with the birds and rabbits.

Onnie Godwin came up with a black eye the other day. He swears that he fell off a bicycle and got it, but who ever heard of getting a black
