But Crook and Walter were there also,

And others who were ready and raring to go.

The boys, well, they caught a hundred sixty-eight.

Some weighing twelve down to three pounds straight.

The luck they had is what most fishermen dream;

And a darn sight better than cake and ice cream.

SAFETY REVIEW

Use Protective Equipment and Safe Tools

In any good safety program it is necessary that safe equipment be provided and used.

So far the only accident at Caromount during the month of October which required medical attention could have been prevented with the use of protective goggles.

In not using protective goggles while operating a spot welding machine, an employee received a painful burn in the eye from flying hot metal sparks.

The eye is a very precious and sensitive organ. Any injury to the eyes is very painful and requires a long time for complete recovery.

Protect your eyes—wear goggles when grinding, or chipping, or burning, or where foreign matter is in the air.

Keep proper guards on your machines—Report missing guards or other safety devices. Request protective equipment if it is not available.

Boy Scout Activities

The Boy Scouts of Troop 1 are putting in quite a bit of time and thought to the decoration of the Patrol Corners and the planning of their awards and ribbons which they have won through the years. It is hoped that each individual of the Troop and the Community as a whole will become more interested in the Scouting Program and its possibilities for a boy, and help make Troop 113 one of the best.

I am offering this trophy as a symbol of good sportsmanship, team work and fair play, all of which attributes have so consistently characterized the annual football games between your two fine schools for so many years."
