

People You Know

William Gray Rose of the Purchasing and Receiving Department came to work at Caromount on June 18, 1942. He is a native of Rocky Mount, Nash County; and he was born August 27, 1882, the son of the late Mrs. Laura Fleming Rose and W. H. Rose.

Mr. Rose spent his childhood in Rocky Mount and attended school at Davis University, a boarding school on Nashville Road and the Rocky Mount Mills School.

Before coming to Caromount he worked at Rocky Mount Mills for about forty years as a roller coverer and supply man.

Mr. Rose was married April 1, 1909 to the late Mrs. Ella Taylor Rose. They had six children; Henry Rose, age 39; Lee Rose, age 34; James Rose, age 32; and Charles Rose, age 31, all of Rocky Mount; Mrs. Lucille Rose Etheridge, age 38 of Whitakers and Thomas Rose, age 20, United States Air Force.

Mr. Rose has worked continuously as a stockroom clerk since coming to Caromount. He has a home at 914 Falls Road and attends the North Rocky Mount Baptist Church where he has been a member since he was fifteen years old.

Mr. Rose is especially fond of hunting and baseball. Each year he plants a garden and grows most of the vegetables in season.

J. T. Eppes of the Dyehouse has for sometime been engaged in the showbird type chicken business. His chickens not being the ordinary chicks have been provided with not so ordinary living quarters.

In the above picture are shown one of two specially designed houses constructed by Eppes. The houses are designed for draft control. Windows are of the transom type.

The house has a hardwood floor, laid over sub flooring and is ceiled with number 1 ceiling. All the hardware is brass and the entire house is painted with two coats of aluminum paint. Materials for each house cost $155.00. Mr. Eppes did the work himself.

At the present time Eppes has 100 Golden Sebright, 16 Black Rose Combs, 8 Black Cochin, and 15 Old English Black Breasted Pit Game Birds. Mr. Eppes lives at 113 East Ridge Street, in Rocky Mount. (Photo by Eppes)
