Tarnoff Reports From New York Office

Our own Isaac Walton, Jerry Sedlak, Sales Manager for the Toy and Apparel Division, took Allan Shore, Sales Manager of our Automotive Division, deep sea fishing a couple of weeks ago. Jerry got his usual quota and Allan was still green the next day.

The whims of the American public certainly go through very quick changes. Only a short time ago, I wrote you that we were having trouble keeping up with the supply of fabric for Davy Crockett hats. Now, from the merchandising point of view, poor old Dave is as dead as a door nail and we are impatiently waiting for Benjamin Franklin or Daniel Boone to appear on the horizon. Hope one of them gets here soon and that he wears a hat or coat or something made of Blumenthal fabric.

Next time you see Mr. Andre down at Caromount, stop him and ask him to tell you his story about the Chairman of the "Committee on Indian Affairs."

WHAT DOES IT TAKE?

"Every day, we turn out thousands of yards of pile fabric. If our customers like our cloth, they buy. That's good for all of us. What does it take to keep our customers buying? Better quality and value. That's where our skill and ability pay off. Using our skill—applying our ability—makes our products and services better—makes customers come back to us. Each one's skill and ability put to work, creates greater quality and value. Quality and value create sales, company strength, job security, better living for us all. Skill and ability put to use—that's what scores the winning runs for every player on our team."
