There is quite an interesting variety of activities the Dudley faculty found during the summer. But now that school has really started again, it is easier to see the same teaching staff, carrying many of their responsibilities and goals to the next school term.

Not the newest but not the oldest of Dudley's curriculum is Family Education teacher, Mrs. Goldsborough. Mrs. Goldsborough be­ serves as one of the six members of the Religion Department. The church is a organization of the students, not of the faculty or others. The office is located in the Old Gym, and the rest of the office is in the old school building.

The students are from all over the country, and the department is run by Mrs. Goldsborough. The church has a membership of over 500 and is divided into three sections: Upper, Middle, and Lower.

The church is active in many ways, including participation in the annual Unity Day parade, the Christmas pageant, and the spring musical show.

The church also has a choir, which performs at various events throughout the year.

Experiencing New Era And Great Epoch

James B. Dudley High School is in a New Era and a Great Epoch! The obvious “growing pains” the institution has experienced this year will continue to be felt for some time to come. But there is also a sense of hope and optimism for the future.

The dramatic story's beginning was marked when 26 students and faculty members made up the first graduating class and the members.

The first faculty consisted of 16 peo­ pie in 1922 and the student body was over 900 pupils. The first class graduated in 1924 and the school has since grown to be the largest in the state.

Many accept these changes as a challenge while others may be ours in a humble way and to consider the fact that each student and teacher benefits.

We must learn to overcome our mistakes and make each new obstacle a challenge. For we face a new era—a period when we must go forward, overwhelmed with many additions.

The world today is involved in a series of changes

that each student and teacher benefits.

It takes work, cooperation, graciousness and courage to make the Institution's growth possible.
