

The Lincoln Echo

VOL. XXI, No. 3

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL, CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

FEBRUARY, 1953 — 10c

Shrubbery Brightens School's Landscape

Just as the interior requires finishings, tile floors, painted walls, modern light fixtures and boards, so does the exterior require finishings. The exterior of the school building has needed something to remove the dull, drab, uninteresting appearance since last September 10, 1952. A project has been jointly undertaken by the administration, faculty, and students to place shrubbery around the front of the building. The Forrest Nurseries of Efland, North Carolina agreed to deliver, plant, and arrange the shrubs for a total of three hundred twenty-six dollars and fifty cents. Classes will donate equal shares to cover the cost.

The shrubs placed around the school are eleven Puamida! Arbarirtoes (an evergreen tree of the pine family), nine Nandinas, eight Lucindas, one Pryacantha (red upright), two English Laurels, two Ilux Rofunclifolias, two Lucidium Recurvifoliums, two Julieanne Barberries, one Red Flame Barberry, and fourteen Sherwood Abielias. They are exquisitely placed one at each column and nine at the front entrance.

Faye Atwater

War Veterans Tell Of Korean Life

On January 16, the social science classes of Lincoln High were fortunate to have Marvin Norwood and Charlie Davis talk to them about their experiences in Korea. They talked about the way the Koreans lived—their religion, education and living conditions. They also related some facts about how the battles are operated on the front line.

Other former Lincoln High students who have returned are Thomas Bynum, Raymond Alston, Joseph Cotton, Jeppie Foushee, Nathan Rogers, Johnnie Walker, Jessie Durham, David Caldwell and Willie Brooks.

We salute these boys.

—Barbara Burnette

Picture above is a portion of the East wing of Lincoln with its newly planted shrubbery.

Dramatics Group Working On "Next Of Kin" For Presentation At Festival

The Othello Club is daily rehearsing for two annual productions, one for the Piedmont District Drama Festival, held at Dudley High School, Greensboro, North Carolina, scheduled this year for March 9th; and the annual high school production of a three-act play, now scheduled for March 20th.

The Festival play is the one-act drama, Next of Kin, by Walter Hackett. The play emphasizes the keen understanding of human nature by the late Dr. Peter Hartley, in making his will. The ghost of Dr. Hartley which appears in monologue to introduce the play is enacted by Ross Farrington. The none too important next of kin—the brother, the sister-in-law, and niece—are portrayed by Alfred Parrish, Ernestine King, and Ola Mae Farrington, respectively.

Other characters consist of the competent housekeeper of the late doctor, Mary Dorcutt, enacted by Roberta Morrow; the efficient secretary, Maureen Desmond, enacted by Delores Walker, and the well-mannered, dignified lawyer, who comes to read the last will and testament of the late Peter Hartley, enacted by Walter Jackson.

Marian Brooks is under-study of Julia Hartley, the fresh, spoiled niece of Dr. Peter Hartley; and Emma Hairston is under-study of the sister-in-law, colorless, beaten, and dull.

Both productions are directed by Mrs. M. D. Turner.

Two Paintings Decorate Library

The Friends Organization of Chapel Hill has rented two beautiful paintings for the school from the Person Art Gallery. These paintings have been hung in the library. The paintings are "Still Life of Fruit," by Claude Monet, and "Rock Landscape," by Paul Cezanne.

The painting "Still Life of Fruit," was painted by Monet, a Frenchman. Monet's paintings are based on the theory that no object has a definite fixed color, but is colored the way it looks at a particular moment.

The second painting, "Rock Landscape," by Paul Cezanne, shows nature in its natural form. Cezanne was also French. His paintings are fresh in color, but are sometimes hard to understand. Their beauty is easy to appreciate.

Miss Frances Yocum has given to the library a large colorful chart called "Economy of the Pacific." It shows the chief products of the countries of the world. This chart is to be framed and also hung in the library.

Gloria Vickers

Honor Roll For 3rd Period Listed

The following persons made an average of B plus or above for the third six weeks period:

7A

Lenny Alston, Markethia Baldwin, Malissa Edwards, Priscilla Farrow, Joyce Minor, Lillie Lee Perry, Nettie Williams.

7B

James Atwater, Joseph Bynum, Frederick Weaver, Richard Fikes, Frank Hariston, Jessie Faraar, Shirley Merritt, Helen Jones, Lillian Farrington.

8A

Jeanette Alston, Lula Jones, Leo Leake.

8B

William Farrington, Warren Jones, John Nevilles, Annie Burnette, Rosa Farrington, Esphere Foster, Mary Mason.

9A

Carolyn Brewer.

9B

Malissa Farrington.

10A

Druscilla Clarke, Barbara Burnette, Betsey Cordal, Beatrice Robinson.

10B

Faye Atwater, Frances Hargraves, Alicia Jones.

11TH

Bette Briggs, Alyce Hargraves, Annie Jones, Ernestine
See Honor Roll, Page Four

Five Here Attend State Band Clinic

On January 31, five members of the Band, Malissa Farrington, Gloria Vickers, Barbara Burnette, Beatrice Robinson and Robert Winston, with Mr. Bell, attended the State Band Clinic at Teachers College in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Four members of the group were chosen to play in the selected band.

Inauguration On TV

On January 20, the Johnson Stroud Ward Furniture Company installed a television set in the school cafeteria so that the students could see the Inauguration and the Parade. Throughout the day various classes were allowed to visit the cafeteria.