POETRY

For the FREE WILL BAPTIST,
WHO HATE OUR REPORT BE LIEVED.

BY REV. A. R. BRADFIELD, A. M.

Who hath our report believed?
Who the report with regard to
I saw the picture of glory come,
Who the more old-frame.

Who the Bible does believe?
Who the Scripture to receive?
From the Lord come heaven's secrets.

How to heaven again ascends.

What believes Jehovah's word?
What faiths of Christ, the Lord?
How he awoke with Adams' voice,
How propounds his saving grace.

Wonderful she prophet weeps,
For God's last home over seeps.
Every one has gone astray,
None runs the narrow way.

'Tis the sad last sight to see,
Every one sleep in the sea
Of black crimes, and every sin,
Now and then one born again.

Deep and sadly should we mourn,
Think so long yet return,
That so much woe to you,
And sweet pleasures will bring.

A GREAT DISASTER

A CYCLOPS UNDIES' EXTRAVAGANT THIEF
HUNTED IN CHARLESTON

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 25.—Chartered to a company of sports this morning and one-fourth of the houses in the neighborhood parts of the spires of St. Michael's and St. Matthew's churches are blown down, and the spire of the Citadel Square Baptist church is demolished. The wharves and warehouses are badly damaged. At Sullivan's Island two steamers are aground, and the new Ashley river bridge now subsisting is swept away. Four vessels which arrived yesterday are wrecked. Telegraph wires are down, and there are no men running. The loss is estimated at one million dollars. The work of restoration and reparation has already begun.

SULLIVAN'S ISLAND, S. C., August 25.—The night of last night and this morning was tempest and destructive. A number of houses on Sullivan's Island were blown away. The N. P. Butler hotel had over one hundred guests, and great form a entertainment for their safety, at nine o'clock this morning the storm reached its greatest velocity. At that hour, while the hotel people were at breakfast, the castle fell with a great crash. Fortunately all the rooms in that building had been vacated, but there were grave apprehensions that the dining-room and the main building would soon succumb to the violence of the storm. Brave men were blanched with fear, and their hearts almost ceased to pulsate, so fearful was the apprehension that the ladies and children were doomed to instant death. The ladies behaved with a heroism that was really grand and sublime; not a man nor escaped their lips; they faced the danger with such fortitude as to challenge the admiration of the men. At 9 o'clock the wind changed from the east and the storm increased from the southwest. When the casino fell it is thought that the maximum velocity of the storm was from 60 to 70 miles an hour. The main building of the hotel is intact, having stood the storm without very serious damage. It was said that the storm was the most violent in thirty years. At 1 o'clock it was entirely over. The loss of the New Butler will be $8,000. There has been very general destruction of property on the island, but the people are professedly grateful that their lives have been spared. The land was in the main submerged, but when the wind changed the waters receded, and all hearts rejoiced and were made glad.

WILMINGTON, N. C., August 25.—A severe storm of wind and rain prevailed here and lasted the entire afternoon, blowing down trees and fences. It was particularly severe in the city. The bark of the Ocean, unloading Dallas at the wharf, was thrown on her beam ends and a small schooner dragged her anchors and was driven ashore. The steamer Passport had a portion of her upper works carried away at Smithville. The velocity of the wind was sixty miles an hour. The telegraph wires are down all along the coast. No further information can be had.

SUDBURY, ONT., August 25.—The storm of last evening and this morning were the heaviest ever known here. About daylight seventy-five linear feet of a 20 foot embankment of the water works reservoir went out, leaving the town without water for moving power or the extinguishing of fires.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., August 25.—Heavy storms passed over this city Monday. The wind, which was accompanied by a drenching rain, reached an average velocity of 40 miles per hour and continued for several hours. At twelve o'clock lasting for two or three minutes which had attained 60 miles and upwards.

The news has just reached here from north of St. John's river, that the gale was terrible there. The Atlantic wave was blown from his foundations. The sloop was blown off and fell on Mrs. Dexter's cabin, goring, breaking her leg. Three or four large schooners loaded with stone for the jetty were broken. Waves were considerably higher. One small vessel was blown down. No one is reported to have been killed.

The storm seems to have been confined to a small radius and was hardly fifty miles to the west south, or north of this city. A great many oranges were blown from the trees. RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER.

WASHINGTON LETTER

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, August 25, 1885.

I have been asked why the Hon. William Dorschimer bought the New York "Star." For a number of reasons, I suppose. But I think the most weighty was his desire to "call back" in print to Hon. Joseph Pulitzer, proprietor of the New York "World," and successor to Mr. Donisthorpe in Congress. The story of the engagement between Dorschimer and Pulitzer is interesting. When Pulitzer assumed control of the "World" he retained Donisthorpe as counsel with a view to possible legal suits. Some time elapsed before anybody even threatened to sue the "World" for libel. At last some exasperated individual did make such a threat. Pulitzer informed his counsel, and when the man brought his suit Dorschimer contested his name as attorney for the defendant. But he did nothing more because Pulitzer, acting independently of his counsel, candidly compromised the case before it came to trial. Then he forgot all about it until he received one day from Dorschimer a bill for $1,000 for services rendered the "World" in defending that suit. Pulitzer went at once to Dorschimer's office with the bill in his hand. "What does this mean?" he asked. Dorschimer explained that it meant just what it said. "Well," said Pulitzer, "but you rendered no services to the World in that case." "I never threshed my bill for fees," Pulitzer said. Dorschimer soliloquized. Thereupon Pulitzer withdrew and hurried at white heat to his office. There he wrote out a check for $1,000 payable to Dorschimer's order, and sent it to him encased in a curl letter, notifying him that he should never more be counsel for the "World." Not content with that he began a vigorous criticism of Dorschimer in the "World," and capped the climax by having him nominated and elected to Congress in Dorschimer's stead. No wonder Dorschimer thinks the score is even.

It is stated that the Austrian government furnished no reason whatsoever for refusing to receive Minister Knobell, and that such being the case we will be represented by a change to affairs at Vienna for some time to come. But there is no warrant for the published statement that Secretary Bayard has intimated to the Austrian Government that we would view with entire indifference the withdrawal of the Austrian Minister from Washington.

THE EVANGELICAL WORK OF

ELD. BARFIELD AND OTHERS

RESUMED TO FIFTY

FOUR ADDITIONS TO THE

CHURCH AT BETHA-

MY AND WATERY

BRANCH.

GRIMMISTON N. C.

August 22, 1885.

THE FRIENDS—I have just returned home from a glorious meeting I had the pleasure of enjoying the last two weeks. It was quite encouraging to Christians to see returning prodigals coming to the fold of Christ. I left home Saturday before the 2nd Sunday in August, for Watery Branch Wayne Co., and presided at a funeral. Sunday, the brethren seemed very anxious for the meeting to be protracted, but owing to my family being sick I left for home promising them if they could get some one to carry on the meeting, I would go back Thursday; so the appointment was made out they failed to get any one. We then like an earnest worker held prayer meetings till Thursday when according to promise met with them and preached, and continued the meeting till the next Thursday, which resulted in 32 additions to the church, 30 baptized and two received. Friday at 11 o'clock, one visited at the water, after which the converts was baptized: thus a glorious meeting has closed that will long be cherished in memories of embalming spicces.

A ramor was current of the Navy Department has Friday, that the sentence of the court-martialed in the case of Paymaster General Smith is suspension from duty on full pay for two years. The remainder of his term as paymaster general is little less than that time. At the end of that, he not been court-martialed, he would have done duty as a pay inspector.

The house which Secretary Whithney has purchased is one of the highest hills about Washington.

The house, which is at the junction of the Potowmack and Loughborough roads, is about three miles northwest of Georgetown, and is a handsome, well-built house, which the Secretary thinks he secured at a bargain. The hill upon which the house is situated is a very high one, and the view to the west is a fine one, and on a clear day the mountain peaks are plainly visible. The Secretary is much pleased with his purchase.

According to a prominent official of the Interior Department, Mr. Secretary Lazarus is once more lapsing into his old habits of forswearship and absent immediately which so distinguished his days in the United States Senate. What Mr. Lazarus was appointed there was a general feeling that he was not enough of a practical worker to attend to the great mass of business in the Interior Department. At first the Secretary took hold with a vim and surprised his critics. Lately, however, he has gone back to his old habits with a vengeance, and the bureau officials are greatly concerned about the work.
