

Here And There

"In Cadence—exercise!" And they do it, too, these patients at Seymour Johnson's station hospital. The idea is to keep those men not too ill, or confined because of reasons which would not prevent from exercising, from getting "too soft." When this picture was snapped, they were enjoying it, too.

Draw one! This one from a lister bag in front of the day room of the 794th, and Pfc. Paul Ackerman of New York City is doing the job. Note the fancy lister bag houses.

Inspection for Seymour Johnson's Waacs are just as rigid as in any barracks on the field. T/S Mary Mouser's locker is getting a check by Third Officers (left to right) Katherine Toughney, Ruth Howard and Anne Goggin. T/S Mouser is 27 and from St. Louis, Mo.

Wash day—you betcha! And don't think a GI can't do it! Here's a shot of a special laundry area over at the 794th, and the GI in the foreground is going right to town with a hard bristle brush. If there is any dirt left in the clothes he is now rubbing, it won't be much.

Music bath charms, etc., is demonstrated every day in the mess halls of Seymour Johnson. Here's a shot of four boys from the band section who are "whooping it up" down at No. 3—and right in the groove, too!

The USO in Goldsboro is a popular place for Seymour GIs these days, and this is—as you will agree—a pretty good shot of the front entrance. Advancing down the walk, left to right, are: Pfc. Ken Fischer, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Harold Manly, Indiana Harbor, Ind.; and Elwood O'Connell of Terre Haute, Ind.
