INTELLIGENT INDIVIDUALS Intelligent individuals today are not satisfied with knowing the trend of events in only one nation but, realizing the interdependence of nations, wish to be informed as to world trends as well. Since an assassination in the Balkan peninsula led the United States into war and because world conditions today inflict poverty upon millions of wheat and cotton growers we find an awakened interest in foreign affairs on the farms of America. The poorest agriculturalist in Halifax County today is paying something financially for the World War and its consequences. He may be too ignorant to realize the fact or to understand that he will help pay for another international conflict. These people are, naturally enough, not interested whether Japan is ruled by a warlike clique or by officials anxious to promote world fellowship and general peace. By contrast there is a general awakening on the part of common people everywhere. The stir is not pronounced, perhaps, but it is evidenced by a sincere wish for peace, which depends upon a thorough understanding of our complicated, modern world.

A PLEA FOR PATIENCE President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, has made an appeal to the restless members of his organization to be patient until the full program of the N. R. A. has developed. He particularly urges that dissatisfied workers seek to settle their differences with employers by arbitration before resorting to industrial warfare by way of strikes. This is good advice for labor to take. The program of President Roosevelt, if fully carried out, will mean more for the laborers of this country than any other single movement ever instituted, not even excepting the good results which labor has achieved as a result of strong organizations. One of the dangers to the N. R. A. program being successfully completed is the impatience of those who will receive the greatest benefit from the counsel of demagogues and extremists, a course which will lead to disaster, namely, the agricultural and laboring groups. The greatest mass of farmers and working men favor the N. R. A. but are in danger of following aster, and, perhaps, the loss of some benefits already in sight. President Roosevelt has already demonstrated that he believes that for the men who depend upon their work in these fields to support themselves and families. It would be a tragic repudiation for laborers to refuse to co-operate with the presidential effort.
