Canada—Arsenal of Empire

Passed by Censor

PICTURED here is a corner of one of the largest shell manufacturing plants in the British Empire. It is located in the Province of Quebec. Only twelve months ago they were harvesting corn on the same spot. Canada's war effort is expanding like that. Before the war the Dominion made no shells. Today Canada is manufacturing 22 types of gun ammunition of ten different calibres at the rate of millions of rounds a year. One bomb factory alone will produce more than 100,000 500-pound bombs a year.

IN MEMORY

In memory of our dear father, who departed from us January 31, 1941.

Daddy, dear, you have left us; You're no more here on earth to roam
And there'll never be another Who can take your place at home. Some day we shall all go to meet you.
Where there'll be no more good-byes
I can think of nothing any sweeter than our meeting in the skies.

Your daughter,
Maebell Gray and family,

War Comes To The Rockies

Passed by Censor

IN PERFECT unity and collaboration with the United States, the Canadian armed forces have embarked upon a plan of campaign for the joint defense of North American soil. From East to West and North to South, on both sides of the border, preparations are quietly but steadily proceeding and any potential invader can expect a hot reception. Even among the peaks of the Canadian Rockies, battle practice is taking place. The photograph shows a Universal Carrier, one of Canada's sturdy, swift pieces of mechanized transport working its way through a high pass in the Rockies. These machines which were used with great effect in Britain's North African drive against Italy, can move at 50 miles an hour over the roughest kind of ground.
