A COUPLE OF WARS TO WIN

BY J. E. JONES

Washington, D. C., April 23—The problems of today loom large with soaring costs of Government, new peaks in taxation and dangers of inflation. Civilian conditions are confused and the usual methods of management are not used to bring us back into steady motion. We do not take time to get matters fixed by improving our laws.

The Government hands us new sharia that are called "controls" and orders us to keep moving and quit blocking the traffic. The fellow who asks, "what for" is not apt to talk back, because he starts thinking about the boys who are in this war, and the human tragedies on the battlefields and at sea. He resolves to keep in step and pinch out a few more dollars to use in buying victory bonds and stamps.

On Capitol Hill in Washington

our Congress has re-engaged in discussions for revising labor laws that displayed their imperfections and brought about hundreds of failures. The National Labor Act was passed as an "experiment", with a general understanding between the Administration and Congress, and also between organized labor and national industries that it would be amended from time to time so that it would meet the public interests.

Those promises to the people have not been kept as is shown by the fact that whenever collective bargaining has failed in the past half dozen years, destructive strikes have followed. Questions of hours, wages the closed shop, might all have been straightened out amicably if the promises that surrounded acceptance of the labor laws as "experiments" had been kept. Instead of laws there have been official "fixers" called mediators, arbitrators, boards and adjusters, that have confused the problems and multiplied troubles of union workers and employers.

Otherwise, President Roosevelt would not have told a recent press conference that he was considering imposing ceilings on wages to prevent inflation.

Labor leaders have been endeavoring to join the forces of management, and tell employers how to run their businesses. But they do not suggest admitting management groups or employers to membership in the unions. Neither does Congress appear to have learned that the industrial system as it has existed in this country for two or three hundred years is being changed so that the bosses will have to take orders—not from the men who work for them—but from union labor leaders.

While we are considering a few problems of the second war that will be waged to win the peace it should be noted that a crusade of prosecutions is being held in abeyance by the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice against big business and the so called "capitalistic system."

Besides, there are more than a dozen Government programs collectively known as "social security" that have already cost the taxpayers billions of dollars. Undoubtedly there are varying degrees of merit in these plans, but any student of local government must realize that these are functions that have been held by the towns, cities and States in the past three centuries, and these responsibilities are plainly "state's rights."

We do not need to consider politics, or political advantages that relate to both of the wars our country has to win. We are not questioning the step taken to bring pressure on the British Government to employ its military strength to help Russia. Heck Hitler now, this Spring. The war to win cannot be won according to Harry Hopkins and General Marshall, by production alone. America has been doing a magnificent job in production.

While big guns roar in all parts of the World all the warring people are praying for their side to win. No Government, no people have as much to lose as the United States because we have built up the richest and most powerful and the best sample of democracy in all time. Our ordinary comforts look like riches to the rest of the world.

We dropped backwards after the war of 1917-18; and we are now in grave danger of losing our civilian and economic riches and balances. Therefore, the war to save Democratic government by winning the peace should consider the necessities of embargoes for peace neutrality for precaution. Lend-lease for Uncle Sam. There should be no hesitancy or delay in declaring that the established rights of big and small business must be saved.

A couple of wars must be won if we are to hold our present position in the World of the future.

How To Safeguard Your Motor When Using 'Saved' Anti-Freeze

A warning to car owners who intend to save their anti-freeze for use again next winter is being issued by automotive service authorities, following the Office of Price Administration's appeal for conservation. "Saved" anti-freeze, these authorities point out, helps conserve chemicals needed for war materials. But such saving can seriously damage a car's motor and cooling system unless the following rules are observed, in the absence of any special instructions from the anti-freeze manufacturer:

1. Drain the old anti-freeze from the car as soon as cold weather is past. Rust protection ingredients in the solution are used up by summer driving, and the anti-freeze itself often is lost by leakage or by over-filling the radiator with water.
2. Discard all anti-freeze that is brown or rusty unless, after standing, it clears up practically water-white or retains some of its original color. There is little value in saving anti-freeze that, when tested, proves badly diluted or weakened.
3. Store saved solution in sealed and labeled glass or earthen containers. Thin steel cans often rust through from the outside.
4. If fresh anti-freeze has to be added in the fall to bring the solution up to full protective strength, be sure that this new anti-freeze is of the same brand as the saved solution.
5. Anti-freeze solution used more than one winter should be frequently tested and inspected during use, and when it becomes brown or rusty in the radiator and does not clear up on standing, it should be discarded immediately even though a satisfactory test can be obtained on freezing protection.

By observing these rules, a car owner can be assured, the experts conclude, of a minimum of trouble from corrosion, freezing damage, rust formation, radiator clogging and overheating difficulties. This will help conserve our automobiles, which are an important wartime asset.
