MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband and father, Lewis L. Cooke whod died June 30, 1941.

Surrounded by friends, I'm lonely,
In midst of pleasure, I'm blue,
Smiles on my face are heartaches
Always thinking of you.

More and more I miss you,
Some may think the wound has healed;
But little they know the sorrow,
Within my heart concealed.

Just when life was the sweetest
And we could live our best
The gates of Heaven opened
And you entered into a land of rest.

Wife.

What is a home without a father?
All things the world may send,
But when we lost our father
We lost one of our dearest friends.

It is lonely here without you,
And sad along life's way
Life does not seem the same
Since you went away.

Daughter, Alice.
