AGRICULTURE'S STANDARD OF LIVING

Challenging the assertion that farmers are seeking to promote inflation, a resolution by the Dairyman's Co-operative Association, of New York, said: "The criticisms are due to lack of understanding of the problems of production as well as the necessity of farmers receiving prices for their products adequate to meet rising costs and afford them a standard of living commensurate with that of city dwellers."

The ratio of increase in earnings of the average consumer has risen more rapidly than that of the farmer, as a result of war wages. Farm labor, especially in the vital dairy field is difficult to obtain at any price. The position of agriculture seems to be largely misunderstood in our urban areas.

MAKE IT A MOTTO

Because the security of this nation probably depends on air supremacy now more than on any other single agency, the Government is utilizing every suitable airplane. As a result, it has taken many of the commercial air line planes. Contrary to an erroneous report, however it did not take over the air lines. They still operate with reduced equipment as private enterprises for public service.

Of necessity, they must give preference to essential war travelers and cargoes, but private citizens are still accommodated subject to some inevitable priorities in emergencies.

As one air line aptly puts it in an advertisement, it seeks to maintain one fundamental of operation at all times—polite and efficient service to all—military and civilians alike.

That would be a good motto for all industries and all Government departments to make a first rule of operation, for either is sunk without the other and both depend absolutely on civilian activity for existence.

A REAL JOB

War has brought new and vitally important jobs to the retailers of this country.

The pinch of shortages is only just beginning to be felt by the bulk of consumers. Stocks of certain kinds of goods which are even in the food field, many items will disappear. In all fields, the consumer will have no longer manufactured are dwindling fast. A smaller range of choice than he has been accustomed to.

So one of the retailers new tasks is to help the consuming public make, with as little discomfort as possible, the great adjustments in living standards resulting from war's enormous demands on our productive resources. And most retailers of the country, little ones as well as big are co-operating to the limit of their abilities in doing that. They are featuring abundant, reasonably priced foods and manufactured goods. They are helping the consumer choose suitable and satisfactory substitutes for scarce and costly items. They are showing us how we may avoid waste, and make what we buy go farther.

On top of that, they are doing other work of great importance to the war effort. They are, for example, aggressively selling and promoting the sale of War Savings and War Bonds—at their own expense and without a penny of recompense. They are co-operating with the Government in fighting speculation, profiteering and hoarding. They have accepted great responsibilities, and they are discharging them fully.

Enemies are those you hate for what they do; allies are those you cuss for what they don't do.

The race problem will be solved when everybody is content and proud to belong to his own race.
