

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION

BY W.W. REID

The crying need of the moment is to discover anew the principles of religion and apply them in our individual and collective life relationships," says William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. "That objective can be reached more quickly through the development and application of widespread Christian teaching. It is a simple proposition. It is not difficult to understand the Ten Commandments, and the Sermon on the Mount, or the Golden Rule. What is needed is these simple religious principles to be recognized and applied in all human relationships, both individual and collective." The American Friends Service Committee (Quakers) is working with the Indian Red Cross in providing 250,000 daily meals for infants and nursing mothers in the famine area around Calcutta, India. This Committee and the British War Relief Society of America recently shipped 20,000 cases of milk. The Friends Ambulance Unit in India is not only distributing this milk, but maintaining camps for older children and adults, and furnishing medicines to combat outbreaks of malaria, pneumonia and dysentery.

Because there are 500,000 military and naval trainees on 400 college campuses in America and the government has not furnished chaplains for their religious welfare, a "Christian Commission on Wartime Campus Missions" has been organized under the leadership of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ. The first objective of the Commission will be to assist local religious groups to minister to these young men and women; later there will be teams of speakers and religious specialists sent to many of the campuses.

"We are spiritually sick, and need spiritual help," a prisoner of war in a camp in Europe told the representative of the World Alliance of the Y. M. C. A. These "Y" secretaries say that the prisoners of all nations are anxious concerning their families, have lost a sense of proportion in their thinking, have a growing dislike for their fellow prisoners because of the closeness of their contacts and do need a ministry to mind and spirit. As these workers visit the camps and work among the prisoners, they try to interest them in life outside their own sordid surroundings and their monotonous scenes and thoughts.

of Christians in America—sects that do not cooperate with others and that are largely founded on an emotional type of religion—has caused considerable concern and desire for understanding among the "major denominations." Dr. H. Paul Douglass, of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, finds that causes of "splits" in the larger churches may be sociological rather than doctrinal, and that the main groups of new sects since 1916 have not been splits but are emotional groups. In doctrine, some are adventist, or perfectionist, or emphasize gifts of speech or healing, while all are likely to be fundamentalist and some pacifist. Most of the churches are rural or village, or among socially isolated people; some are among the "disinherited" in the cities. While Protestants and Catholics in the United States have increased about 25 per cent in membership since 1926, Dr. Douglass says these small emotional sects have increased about 100 per cent. He adds, "Until we can understand the rise of these bodies and include them in our fellowship, church unity will not be complete."

get the dust, according to Maxwell. He points out that the arsenate dust is used not only in the control of the boll weevil and the cotton leaf worm, but also in controlling the bollworm that infests Texas and adjoining states. Maxwell suggests that growers be on the safe side and order enough dust for the first three applications at once and store it in a safe, dry place so that it will be on hand when needed. Delay in beginning the boll weevil fight often results in the loss of a crop of cotton.

soybean pasture at $20.00 per acre. "If 5 to 8 pigs, weighing 50 to 100 pounds, are grazed per acre, then a 1-4 ration of corn (1 or 2 ears, daily) should be fed per head. If 8 to 12 pigs are grazed per acre, then a 3-4 ration (3 to 6 large ears of corn or 1 to 2 quarts of ground grain) should be fed per head daily," Vestal recommends.

A mineral mixture can be self fed by keeping it in a dry place where the pigs can get to it at will. Either of the following mixtures will be satisfactory:

1 gallon ground limestone, 1 gallon ashes (hardwood preferred), and 1 quart of salt; or 10 pounds ground limestone, 10 pounds of steamed bone meal and 5 pounds of salt.

SORGO
A new sorgo cane from Ethiopia may have possibilities for sugar production, say USDA officials. It will be tested in the Southern States and in the Canal Zone.

WHEAT
The U. S. wheat crop shows progressive improvement with no material winter killing anywhere, say reports. Heavy snows have blanketed much of the Western belt.

POTATOES
The largest supply of seed Irish potatoes in history has been available to farmers this spring. Certified seed potatoes jumped from 20 1-2 to 29 million bushels.

Buy And Store Your Boll Weevil Poison

Buy your calcium arsenate for boll weevil control now and store it in a dry place, otherwise you may not be able to get it when the weevil suddenly appears in cotton fields this summer, advises J. Myron Maxwell, Extension entomologist at State College.

Because of transportation difficulties and labor shortages, growers may not be able to get the calcium arsenate dust they need, if orders are placed at the last minute.

Supplies of most insecticides are relatively short but growers should be able to get calcium arsenate for boll weevil control, if orders are placed early and dealers are given plenty of time to

Soybeans Furnish Cheaper Hog Feed

North Carolina farmers can stay in the hog business if they will keep their hogs grazing during 1944, says Ellis Vestal, Extension swine specialist at State College. An acre planted to soybeans in early April will furnish grazing for a litter of spring pigs from late June until fall. This acre will produce three times as much hog feed as the same acre planted to corn alone. The Biloxi, Tokyo or Woods Yellow varieties are recommended by Vestal for grazing in the eastern half of the state. These same varieties can be planted near the hog lot and cut and carried to the hogs daily in the western half of the state, if grazing is not preferred.

Plant the soybeans in rows about two feet apart and then cultivate twice to keep down the grass and weeds. They are ready for grazing when 12 to 15 inches high. "Good pigs weighing 50 to 100 pounds will gain better than a pound per day on green soybeans when fed only one or two large ears of corn along with a simple mineral mixture," Vestal says.

Experiments show that 100 pounds of pork can be produced on soybean pasture for as little as $8.23. This low cost is based

THEY NEED THE RELAXATION OF A WEEKEND TRIP!

If you must travel give them the space on weekend trains

TRAINING for war is grim, grueling business no matter what branch of the service you are in. If you were in uniform, think of how anxious you'd be to get away occasionally for a glimpse of the world outside your camp.

Every weekend thousands of men in camps and bases served by the Atlantic Coast Line feel just that way. When they get a leave they board the first train available for nearby towns and cities, or perhaps a hurried trip home. Weekend trains are often crowded to overflowing and some passengers may have to stand.

So if you must travel remember this: during the week, from Tuesday through Thursday your chances of getting a coach seat or Pullman space are usually so much better. And you'll be doing the boys and girls in uniform a favor by leaving them more space on weekend trains.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How to make a real post-war plan

Sure's a lot of talk going around nowadays about post-war planning... folks passing resolutions... statesmen holding conferences... governments making promises to each other.

But as Bert Childers says: "What good is all this drawing up of plans unless each one of us decides to make his corner of the world a better place to live in?"

From where I sit, Bert's put the problem in a nutshell. Governments can pass all the resolutions and make all the treaties they can think of—and it's still up to the people themselves to see to it that the world is ruled by tolerance and understanding.

Unless we make up our minds to respect the other fellow's rights and liberties—whether it's the right to enjoy a glass of beer occasionally or the right to vote according to our conscience—all our post-war planning won't be worth the paper that it's printed on.

How JIMMY & JUDY Made The Music Go 'Round and 'Round for UNCLE SAM

IT TELLS HERE IN THE PAPER THAT THREE SEAGEEES WERE LOST IN THE JUNGLE AND TOOK TO TURN PLAYING AN OCARINA FOR TWENTY DAYS, TILL THEY WERE RESCUED—

OH BOY—WHY DON'T WE SEND FOP'S OLD HARMONICA TO SOME SOLDIER OVERSEAS!

WOW! THAT'S A PEACH OF AN IDEA! AND ALL WE HAVE TO DO IS TAKE IT TO MR. MURPHY AT THE CANDY STORE WHERE WE GET OUR "COKE"—HE KNOWS JUST HOW TO SEND IT—

HOT DIGGETY—HERE'S OUR OLD ACCORDION TOO— AND LOOK! IT'S STILL GOOD— LET'S SEND THAT ALONG—

REMEMBER HOW UNCLE JIM USED TO PLAY "THE BLUE OF THE NIGHT" OVER AND OVER ON THIS— AND NOW HE'S WAY OUT IN GUADALCANAL WHERE THERE'S NO MUSIC AT ALL, I GUESS!

AND LOOK, JUDY, HERE'S THAT LITTLE FLUTE THAT YOU PLAYED IN THE TOWN OF JULY PARADISE— LET'S SEND IT ALONG—

COME ON JIMMY— NOW LET'S COVER THE TRACK AND SEE WHAT THE NEIGHBOR...!

DO YOU THINK THIS BIG BAZOOKA MIGHT SCARE A JAP, MR. MURPHY?

SURE THING, AND BELIEVE ME— SOME JIMESICK YANK WILL GIVE YOU KIDS A HAND FOR THIS— GOSH— HERE COMES THE "COKE" TRUCK FOR 'EM RIGHT NOW—

BE SURE TO GIVE MY FLUTE TO SOME NICE YANK

SURE THING— SIS!

COME ON LET'S SING "MEMORIES" JUST ONCE MORE FOR WHOEVER IT WAS THAT REMEMBERED US WITH THESE SWEET SQUEEZE BONES AND SWEET POTATO PIPES!

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP!

Our boys in camp and overseas need musical instruments of all kinds—harmonicas, flutes, accordions, ocarinas, bazookas, pocket-size music-makers. Be a sport like Jimmy and Judy—ransack your home—and ask your neighbors for any unused instruments. Take them to your Coca-Cola dealer. Then the "Coke" truck will send them to Uncle Sam for our boys. Do it today!

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke."
