

FAT IS STILL NEEDED

Supt. Myrtle Hovell, New York City, superintends while cook's helper Barbara Matjosek of Pittsburgh, Pa., pours used fat into the "used fat bucket" in the WAC storeroom at Fort Myer, Va. The Army knows that fat salvage can not let up with Victory in Europe, but must continue until Jap-held islands of the South Pacific again become oil producers.

Farmers Are Warned Against Alfalfa Meal

Raleigh, November 9th -- Every lot of alfalfa meal that we check up, irrespective of the manufacturer, is deficient in protein," declared D. S. Coltrane, assistant to the Commissioner of Agriculture, in urging J. J. McManus, chief of the Atlanta station of the Federal Security Agency, to "prosecute vigorously cases on protein shortages against the Tremaine Alfalfa Milling Company, of Mesa, Ariz., the Denver Alfalfa Milling and Product Company, of Lamar, Col., and the Saunders Feed Mills, of Toledo, Ohio.

In the case against Tremaine Mills, Department chemists found that a lot of 400 bags of alfalfa meal sent into this State was short in protein and excessive in fiber. The Denver Mills product was guaranteed to contain 17 per cent, but chemists reported only 11.34 per cent, according to Coltrane.

"Feed manufacturers and farmers of the State are being short-changed from 20 to 25 per cent in the purchase of alfalfa meal," said Coltrane.

He stated that no disposition has been made of the case against nine alleged violations of the Feed Law by Saunders Mills, whose representative, George J. Polomy, was jailed here last week and later released under a bond of $500.

The trial, originally set for last Tuesday in Goldsboro, was postponed at that time until a later date. Wayne County Court was asked to delay the trial until late in November.

Cherry And Broughton Speak To Grange Delegates

North Carolina Leaders Plead For More Abundant Rural Life

Raleigh, November 9th-- The 300 delegates who attended the sixteenth annual convention of the State Grange here heard Governor J. M. Broughton and Democratic Nominee for Governor R. Gregg Cherry plead for a strong rural health program, higher farm wages, better farm to market roads, and a "return to self reliance on the agricultural front" in the post-war years.

In urging greater attention to mechanized farming, Governor Broughton pointed to the use of machines in the war and expressed the belief that farm boys should be provided with tractors, combines, and other farm machinery, "if we expect to keep them down on the farm."

"Most of our folks in this State live in the country, and we must not forget it. There should be a fine spirit of cooperation between industry and agriculture in the days that lie ahead of us," said Cherry in discussing farm wages and comparing them with the wages paid factory laborers.

Cherry declared the next Governor should encourage the improvement of secondary roads, pointing out that this would create better church and school attendance and would result in more and better produce auction markets.

In his annual report, State Grange Master Harry B. Caldwell, of Greensboro, outlined the need for crop insurance, price floors, school lunch programs, a rural health program, increased funds for education, and parity prices for farm products.

"A high level of national income must be maintained if we are to provide full employment at good wages and retire the national debt," said Caldwell.

The annual awards for distinguished service to North Carolina agriculture were presented to Governor Broughton, Mrs. Myrtle Nicholson Coble, of Burlington, and Dr. William Moore of Raleigh, State veterinarian.

Price control of farm machinery continues although removal of rationing and distribution control of all farm machinery and equipment, except corn pickers, was announced by the WFA.

More fish dinner during the next three weeks are urged by the WFA to relieve the heavy fish supplies now in storage and also to ease the demand for meat for civilians.

FIGHTING NAZIS; NIPS ... and FRICTION

Section of one of the ten modern Sinclair refineries now geared for war.

WHEN American flyers in Europe and in the Pacific take to the skies, they are forced to fight not only Nazis and Nips but one more enemy - friction.

To help our boys fight all three of these enemies, Sinclair produces great quantities of tough, dependable aviation lubricants. Every day, Sinclair refineries turn out enough aviation oils to lubricate a flight of 3,500 heavy American bombers.

Today Sinclair is not only one of the largest producers of aviation lubricants, but its modern refineries also make the explosive Toluene, 100-octane gasoline and many other types of fuels and specialized lubricants for war-front and home-front use. Altogether, there are 10 modern Sinclair refineries serving this nation and its allies.

SINCLAIR DEALERS fight friction on the home front. Their Sinclair-ize service helps make cars last longer. Let a Sinclair Dealer service your car regularly.
