

Morrisville Chamber's Web site changes, Chamber Planning Day set for Nov. 14

The Morrisville Chamber's web-site has changed to <http://www.morrisville.com>. Members who wish to link with the new website should call Mary Lester at the chamber office at 380-9026. Thanks to a $2,200 grant from BellSouth, members may link to the website free of charge.

The chamber also has a new e-mail address. It is chamber@morrisville.com.

There are still spaces available for the fall golf outing, to be held Monday, November 2 at the Governor's Club with a 10 a.m. shotgun start. The $100 per person fee includes a box lunch. Issues and Eggs will be held Friday, Nov. 20. The speaker will be E. Norris Tolson, secretary of the Department of Transportation. Business after hours will be held November 10 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at 960 Aviation Parkway, Suite 300, sponsored by Southport and Hannaford Foods.

Chamber Planning Day will be Saturday, November 14 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Courtyard by Marriott, 2001 Hospitality Court at I-40 and Airport Boulevard. There is

Public workshop set for land use plan

By Mary Beth Phillips
Staff writer

A public workshop has been set for Nov. 5 to discuss a preliminary draft of existing conditions in Morrisville, the first step in the update of Morrisville's land use plan.

The workshop will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Morrisville Elementary School's multipurpose room.

The report, by the Wooten Company of Raleigh, includes current land use, transportation, utilities, demographics and influences from adjacent areas.

It will be used along with public input to outline on potential goals for the land use plan. Those goals could be completed in the next few months, with work on the plan commencing at the first of the year. A draft land use plan is expected in April.

The contract to revise the land use plan, which was last revised in 1989, was awarded on July 13 to The Wooten Company, low bidder of three bidders.

Though the town had only allocated $20,000 for the project, it agreed to accept Wooten's low bid of $29,525. Two other bids came in much higher, including Benchmark, Inc., ($36,000), and Hal McNeely and Associates ($62,000).

The board of commissioners will consider the goals suggested at the workshop at a meeting in November before the firm will continue its work on the plan.
