

MOMENTS TO REMEMBER

That twang is in the air and the trees are putting on their new fall outfits _____.

The lasses are coming out with their new cashmeres hoping to catch the eye of a certain hero _____. If you ride by the football field you can hear a "keep-two-three-four" with several of these heroes running two extra laps around the field.

The frosh are slowly but surely catching on to the routine and have learned to laugh to Coache's jokes and not to deposit orange peels in his "round file" _____ the traffic still goes up the stairs the wrong way and the lockers are the scene of the familiar scramble _____ the sophs have learned to live like Eskimos in Mr. Bain's room and girls have learned never, never under any circumstances to go to the lockers before his Algebra session.

The high and mighty are walking around with "noses pointed toward the sky" giving the jolly juniors that certain treatment. (Everybody knows they are really scared stiff wondering how they finally made it.) _____ But while you ponder on these familiar scenes, let your mind slip back for a moment into its worn grove of freedom—when the beaches were calling and the jingle of the alarm clock could be laughed at and just everybody had a nice bronze tan _____.

Ed Patterson, Jimmy George, and George Paddison took off for unknown parts and ended up in the big city _____ Phyllis Lee went down to the place where they sell those great suntans _____ Ann Booker and Betty McGowan worked themselves to the bone at that "heaven on earth" at Arapahoe _____ Ruthie Wellons and Julie Hooks spent their annual month at "their" beach _____ Barbara Byrd, Frances Johnson, Mary Joe Brown, Howard Mallard and loads more had a great time at their youth Assemblies _____ Billy Fuller, Macy Hoyle, and Jerry Highsmith slaved away at Camp Tuscarora _____ Jack Taylor roamed clear over across the continent while Roy Land took off toward the north, above the Mason-Dixon Line.— Virginia Britt, Darby Wood, and Sashie Skinner scooted off to that "second best" tobacco state _____ Tommy Gardner, a native of Carolina Beach, spent a few days in Smithfield (just kidding, Tommy, guess we're all jealous) _____ Lena Rose Patterson and Cinda Grantham went up to Thousand Islands to see that famous ex-Red Devil, Nell Rose Wallace, perform _____ Ann Batten, Mary Jo Warr, and Jackie Bridges claim they've made their second million burning tobacco, while loads more of these smart early-risers were working on their third _____ Peanut Edwards and Bud Stallings journeyed South to see Ronnie Jones who moved down at the beginning of the summer _____ Mary Ogie Baugham might be seen singing "Carry Me Back To Old Virginia" as she made a visit up that way _____ Seems some of the Girl Scout Troops journeyed to Carolina Beach, but I bet the residents down there doubt that they were Scouts (at least girl scouts.) _____

All these pleasant daydreams fade into the background and the present is brought back with a rush _____ you might see the cheer-leaders practicing just any afternoon _____. "Are you proud of your school???" _____ And you might see Mr. Glenn picking up the remains of recess after the mad rush of the tardy bell _____
