

REFLECTIONS

Monday morning, 8:25. The halls are filled with hushed groups of bleary eyed students and half-asleep teachers. A mob forms around the door to watch other half-awakes arrive.

Our front hall has now been graced with a beautiful portrait of Mr. Glenn, the oil painting given by last year's senior class, is a constant reminder that there is one who concerns himself with our welfare -- who is our "father at school," so to speak.

Picture day reminds one of an automobile assembly line. Next-click; next-click; next

The maintenance force for our county schools has just recently erected a flag pole in front of the high school building. The pole was given to our school by the Smithfield plant of Burlington Industries, Inc. This is a welcome and inspirational addition to our school. On behalf of our school, I want to express our deepest appreciation to the Smithfield plant for this most appropriate gift and to Supt. E. S. Simpson for permitting the school maintenance force to erect the pole.

Notice: Morning Watch has been resumed for students at the Free Will Baptist Church on Wednesdays before school. There has been a large participation in these programs, but as the old adage goes "Always room for one more." And that one is YOU.

Editor

SOPHOMORE SURPRISE

"I've got a surprise for you girls," were the words of Mrs. Cash. A few days later we found out what the surprise was --- going to Wilson on November 6 to see the two new homes on display there.

We all piled into several cars and we were on our way. Upon arriving in Wilson we looked over the homes. My! They were attractive! All of us agreed that the second home was the prettier, especially the den and terrace.

On our way home we stopped at Parker's to eat supper. The food was delicious!

We all enjoyed our visit very much and know that it helped us in our study of homes.

Mary Jo Warr

HOMECOMING QUEEN

One of the highlights of the Homecoming week end was the crowning of Ann Stallings as our Homecoming Queen. Ann, who is an outstanding senior, said she was very thrilled and honored.

Ronald Ennis, co-captain of the Red Devils presented the crown to the reigning beauty in a ceremony before the Selma game. Ann was dressed in a black and white suit with a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

We've gleaned a few facts of interest about our royalty. Her favorite pastime is being with Virgil.

The students of Smithfield High are proud of Ann and extend their sincere congratulations.

Myrna Sutton

The object of teaching a child is to enable him to get along without his teacher.

-Elbert Hubbard

Half the world today knows how the other half lives - they're paying for it.

-Frances Rodman

The harder you fall the higher you bounce.

-American Saying