

SMITHFIELD HIGH TIMES

Peggy Thomas is now helping Mr. Benton teach his chemistry classes. She's not doing very well because most all of the students are making high marks!

Ellen Tyner has become a dental assistant, and is considering becoming a dentist. She has actually conquered her fear of the dentist office.

Geraldine Taylor, chief telephone operator in New York, came in second in the Talkathon contest. Betty Daughtry won first prize.

Frances Johnson and Barbara Stephenson are private secretaries. Edgar Baugham is their boss. Living out in Reno is wonderful but it's a pretty big job to keep up with Edgar's losses - on the stock market, that is!

As I stopped over in Smithfield, I saw Adalia Wiggs, Joyce Roberts, and Sarah Broadhurst. They are teaching in the local schools. They were in conference with textbook authority Phyllis Pace.

Well-known artists, Carolyn Norris and Margaret Rackley, ride around in Carolyn's big convertible. They look for things to paint!

Mary Helen Ragsdale and Priscilla Wright, both past queens of the Miss America Beauty Contest, are modeling now for Glamour Magazine.

Mac Creech has invented a "forever sleeping pill" and he is forever sleeping!

Edwin Price is Master of Ceremonies now on The Price is Right. I understand that Jimmy Gordon, speed car racer, has won eighteen thousand dollars in prizes on Edwin's show. Roy Brown, III, last year won $20,000 in prizes. He took most of his "loot" home to Sharon.

Clyde Grigg has taken over the Jack Benny show on T.V. We wonder if he will be ageless too!

Steve Mackler and Jarmon Eason have just finished engineering their first job. It has not been approved by the designer, Herman Creech, though. The designer and the engineers had two different jobs in mind!

The Cleveland Indians have recently hired David Lee and Larry Moore to play ball for them. David isn't doing too well though, because he has nine little Indians to look after at home.

It seems that all the seniors are doing well. May the future years be as happy for each of you as the years of the past have been.
