What's new, located up-town, very beautiful, and very valuable to teenagers? You guessed it, the NEW LIBRARY. In the new library there are plenty of tables and chairs to use when studying or reading. There are many new reference books which are especially useful in preparing term papers.

Upstairs there is a large room which can be used for various club meetings, for showing filmstrips, etc.

We are proud to have such a beautiful library, so let's all take very good care of it.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PLAY

The auditorium was transformed into Grand Fenwick April 21, when the combined talents of the Junior and Senior classes presented The Mouse That Roared.

The main characters were: Tully Bascom, Steve Stephenson; Glorianna, Gail Evans; Count Mountjoy, Joe Morgan; and Beryl Wells as David Benter.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the play (especially the actors), and the weeks of work seemed well worth the effort.

All the people who participated are to be congratulated. The stagehands, the art class, and the makeup committee helped make the play a success.

A special note of thanks goes to Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Dacus, who gave their time to make the presentation of the play possible.
