Street Potted Tots

Maggie Shoobridge/CITIZEN

STATESVILLE'S DOWNTOWN IS REALLY GROWING! Corbette and Kelten, children of Tor and Dawn Tschanz, nearly became potted tots. In an effort to inject some color and beauty among the concrete, asphalt and brick in downtown, the city has purchased four large flower pots and placed them at the base of the traffic poles on the square. They are now filled with flowers, but not flower children.
