

Iredell Arts Council Announces New Art Website

The Iredell Arts Council announces its new, user friendly, arts website, www.iredellarts.org, designed by Design Detail. This is the go-to website for those who want to know what is happening in arts in Iredell County.

Among its features is a calendar of arts events in Iredell and surrounding counties. Anyone or any organization having an upcoming event is asked to contact the Arts Council to have their event listed.

A listing of Iredell County artists of all disciplines is being developed. Artists are asked to log on the website and, following the directions, list themselves.

There is also a listing of all arts organizations in Iredell County. Any new arts organization can get listed by logging on and filling out the form. Art competitions, grants and other opportunities for artists will be listed as they become known.

For additional information, contact Dusty Rhodes at the Iredell Arts Council in the Old Jail on South Meeting Street or call 704-873-6100, or Email iredellarts@conninc.com.

Addition to the Trey Pharr Story

When we ran the very moving story of Trey Pharr in the Nov. 20 edition of the Iredell Citizen we neglected to include one very, very important person – his grandmother Mary Helen Walker of Statesville, who is the wife of Dr. Harry Walker whom we did mention. Trey, if you recall, overcame cerebral palsy to become an Eagle Scout, a straight A student and a member of the National Honor Roll, among other honors. He is the son of Jimmy and Ida Pharr of Sanford.

THE IREDELL FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY recently donated surplus books to the Molly McKay Children's Center, which is a part of Fifth Street Ministries. The books will be used to help with after-school assistance volunteers provide at the Center. The books come from public donations the library receives that aren't needed for circulation. Such donations are placed in the Friends book cart at the front of the library, or shared with the Iredell-Statesville schools, the Fourth Creek Rotary Club, or area community projects such as the Molly McKay Center. Pictured are Lisa McBane, vice-chair of the Friends; and Dr. Ralph McKay, co-founder of the Molly McKay Children's Center. For more information on the Molly McKay Center log onto www.geocities.com/mollymckaychildrenscenter.

Mooresville Is Decorated for Christmas

Christmas lights and decorations have been installed on Main Street in Mooresville with funding covered entirely by donations from Mooresville-South Iredell Chamber of Commerce members. The MSI

Chamber of Commerce wishes to thank and recognize its members and the Town of Mooresville for their generosity and for their support of the festive holiday lighting downtown.
