

LNRMC's Volunteer Auxiliary Announces Scholarship Winners

Kristin Delk Curtis

Alyssa Renee Abbott

Elisa Catherine Marez

Jaclyn Nicole Dillard

as well as special Easter and Thanksgiving projects

A scholarship committee of the Auxiliary awards a $2,000 scholarship to four student applicants after reviewing applications and candidate interviews. Students are evaluated on academic achievement, financial need and demonstrated desire to pursue further education. This year's scholarship recipients are Elisa Catherine Marez, Alyssa Renee Abbott, Jaclyn Nicole Dillard and Kristin Delk Curtis.

Marez received the Bob Tobias Scholarship, named in honor of a former, active volunteer. A graduate of Hopewell High School, Marez is pursuing a nursing degree at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte and is currently a Huntersville resident.

While a student at Lake Norman High School, Abbott participated in the Volunteer Auxiliary's Junior Volunteer summer program and has been awarded the Junior Volunteer scholarship based on her proven interest in the health care industry. She is a Mooresville resident and is attending the University of North Carolina at Wilmington to pursue a nursing degree.

A Hopewell High School senior, Dillard was awarded the Book Scholarship for her demonstrated interest in pursuing a career as a nurse anesthetist. She will attend UNCC beginning this fall.

Curtis also received a Book Scholarship and is a sophomore at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. This is the second scholarship awarded to Curtis by Lake Norman Regional Medical Center's Volunteer Auxiliary. Curtis is a Hopewell High School graduate and plans to attend medical school upon completing her undergraduate degree.

MOORESVILLE - Each year, the Lake Norman Regional Medical Center Volunteer Auxiliary awards four academic scholarships to assist students pursuing health-related careers. The volunteers coordinate fundraising efforts through the volunteer-run gift shop

Three Local Political Forums Scheduled

Got tough questions for local candidates? You'll have a chance to put them on the spot three times in the coming weeks.

The first forum will be held 7-9 p.m. at Lake Norman High School auditorium. The candidates are on the line again June 17 at the Statesville High School auditorium also at 7-9 p.m. To give folks in north Iredell a chance, the final forum will be held July 15 at the North Iredell High School auditorium.

Local candidates invited include Iredell County commissioners, Iredell-Statesville school board and state house and senate hopefuls. All candidates will have opening remarks and will take written questions from the audience. All Iredell County citizens are invited.
